Protester Clubbed

A young man in swimming trunks is clubbed by a Minneapolis policeman as he sits on the grass at the University of Minnesota mall earlier this week. Police used tear gas to break up the demonstration. Though the tempo quieted Friday, widepsread protests against the Vietnam war were reported from across the country.

U.S. Planes Cut Viet Rail Link; Ships Appear To Avoid Minefields

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. bombers have knocked out a key railroad bridge and cut Hanoi's northeast rail link with China, pilots reported Friday. Informants said North Vietnam's entire rail system has been heavily bombed.

At sea, the Pentagon reported, several merchant ships bound for North Vietnamese ports apparently have changed course because of American mines planted in those ports. The Pentagon situation report also said two and possibly three additional foreign merchant vessels left Haiphong harbor before the mines were activated Thursday. This was in addition to five reported earlier to have pulled out before the deadline, and would leave 28 or 29 in Haiphong harbor.

On the ground, North Vietnamese gunners slammed barrage after barrage of heavy shells into An Loc, still striving to take their second South Vietnamese provincial capital and move closer to Saigon.

In the central highlands, U.S. military sources reported that an unspecified number of American military personnel including clerks, nurses and supply workers are being evacuated from Pleiku to Nha Trang in anticipation of further fighting. There had been about 2,800 Americans in Pleiku. The city is 27 miles south of Kontum, considered the next objective of North Vietnamese forces in the highlands.

Lt. Col. John P. O'Gorman, St. Louis, Mo., commander of a fighter squadron in Da Nang, disclosed that bombers pounded the railroad bridge on the northeast line for 15 minutes Thursday, collapsing several concrete supports.

"It was a good day's work," said O'Gorman, who escorted the bombers to protect them against MIG interceptors. "They (the bombers) really worked over that bridge."

O'Gorman did not pinpoint the location of the bridge.

North Vietnam has two rail lines connecting with China. The northeast line is considered the most important.

It is believed that U.S. bombers will have to strike almost daily to keep the lines cut because North Vietnam likely will attempt to repair them as fast as they are hit.

Fierce fighting has raged at An Loc, 60 miles north of the South Vietnamese capital, since early in the North Vietnamese offensive. It has intensified this week.

Saigon headquarters' spokesmen sought to play down the An Loc action Friday, saying the situation there was not so serious as it had been the previous day. Field reports said, however, that the town was hit by 3,000 more shells during the day, following a record bombardment of more than 7,500 rounds Thursday.

Bolstering the Saigon government effort, U.S. Air Force B52 bombers carried out the heaviest concentration of strikes of the war along an eight-mile line to the north of An Loc. The Stratofortresses dropped more than 1,700 tons of explosives, but when the raids were over the enemy guns opened up again.

The fighting around An Loc spread south toward Saigon, and the U.S. Command reported an American adviser was killed and another wounded at Chon Thanh, a district capital 15 miles south of An Loc. Despite the report of these casualties, the American and South Vietnamese commands said they had no details of fighting there.

Vietnam War Protests Simmer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Antiwar violence died down somewhat Friday, but mass rallies of protest against President Nixon's new Vietnam policy were scheduled for 20 cities Saturday, one of them in front of the White House in Washington.

Meanwhile, police using tear gas drove back rampaging Cornell University demonstrators, traffic-blocking protesters at Yale University were arrested, a deactivated mine sweeper was seized by antiwar militants in St. Louis, and telephone cables were cut in Salt Lake City.

A police motorcycle was set afire and rocks, cans and bottles hurled by 2,500 antiwar protesters who clashed with police outside a San Francisco hotel where Republican Govs. Ronald Reagan and Nelson Rockefeller were kicking off President Nixon's California reelection campaign at a state Republican meeting. Firemen were called when someone set a trash container ablaze.

Mounted and foot patrolmen in riot gear swung nightsticks and moved the demonstrators back from the St. Francis hotel and into side streets. Hard hat construction workers atop a nearby building project cheered the police and shouted "give 'em hell."

Occasional manifestations of support for President Nixon cropped up, however.

Deputy sheriff John Seay estimated that 15,000 persons marched through Fort Walton Beach, Fla. to the Chamber of Commerce offices, where they signed petitions backing the President.

The Citizens Committee for a Free Asia was formed in Salt Lake City and scheduled its initial rally for Saturday. Co-Chairman Michael C. Burton said the committee believes "elite South Korean troops and 250,000 soldiers offered by the Republic of China should be allowed to join an invasion of North Vietnam."

A conservative organization, Young Americans for Freedom, claiming 50,000 to 60,000 members, announced in Washington that "we support the President's use of any effective military means including a full scale invasion of North Vietnam, if employed for a strategy of crippling the enemy's ability to make war ..."

About 130 windows were smashed at Ithaca, N.Y., as a crowd of 300 surged in and around the Cornell campus. Tear gas billowed across the area and police and protesters scuffled. Three non-students were arrested and two policemen required hospital treatment. Property damage was estimated in the thousands of dollars.

There were a dozen arrests at New Haven, Conn., where demonstrators from Yale blocked traffic in the downtown area. Princeton University students continued their efforts to block access to the Institute of Defense Analysis on the New Jersey campus, and 44 were arrested.

Soviets Amicable Friday

Nixon Summit Trip Plans Cloudy

WASHINGTON (AP) — With President Nixon's Moscow trip only a week away, the White House was unable Friday to give out any details—not even a firm departure time.

The situation was highly unusual for a presidential foreign trip of this magnitude.

Hanging over the summit Soviet meeting in recent days was the shadow of Nixon's decision to mine Haiphong harbor and cut off supplies to the North Vietnamese. The Soviet Union is a prime supplier.

Fears diminished by week's end, however, that the Soviet Union would cancel the summit talks. An especially hopeful sign was Thursday's cordial visit at the White House between Nixon and Soviet Foreign Trade Minister Nikolai Patolichev and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

But there appeared to be technical difficulties holding up the usual preparations.

White House spokesmen repeatedly told reporters "the planning is proceeding." A White House technical team now in the Soviet Union to make advance arrangements for such things as communications, hotel accommodations, Secret Service protection and other details was said to be "proceeding with its work."

Nixon went off Thursday afternoon to spend a long Mother's Day weekend with his family at Camp David in the nearby Maryland mountains.

The only announcements on the trip so far have been that Nixon is scheduled to arrive in Salzburg, Austria, next Saturday, May 20, for a weekend rest stop. He is scheduled to arrive in Moscow May 22 for a stay of about eight days in the Soviet Union, with visits also to the cities of Leningrad and Kiev. But dates that Nixon will be in those cities have not been specified.

Nixon is scheduled to be in Iran May 29 and 30 and in Warsaw, Poland, May 31 and June 1.

Friendly Chat

Soviet Minister of Foreign Trade Nikoli Patolichev makes a point during a friendly meeting in the White House. Diplomatic observers read the Russians' friendly attitude at the trade talks as an indication that the Soviet Union still seeks a summit meeting with President Nixon, shown listening to Patolichev.

U.S. European Army Post Blast Said War Protest

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Bombs exploded at a German police building in Munich and another in Augsburg on Friday as authorities investigated the blasts at a U.S. Army headquarters compound in Frankfurt that killed an American officer and injured 13 persons the day before.

Frankfurt police also reported receiving an anonymous telephone call that two bombs had been planted near the U.S. military post exchange. A search revealed no explosives, they said.

A police official reported earlier two "heavy caliber" undetonated bombs had been found at the PX, which is about one-quarter mile from the ravaged Army compound. The Army estimated damages at $300,000.

American military police and German civilian police declined to speculate on whether the bombings were politically inspired.

The latest bomb attacks were made on city police headquarters in Augsburg and the Bavarian state police office in Munich.

Two bombs went off shortly after noon on the fourth and fifth floors of the Augsburg building, injuring at least one police official, authorities said. Windows were shattered, doors ripped out and the ceiling damaged.

The explosion in Munich followed three hours later and was considerably stronger than the Augsdurg blasts, police said.

The bomb exploded in an auto in the police office parking lot. The car was destroyed and 40 other autos damaged, police said. There were no reports of serious injuries.

Investigators said there were no clues on who planted the bombs.

Lt. Col. Paul A. Bloomquist, 39, Salt Lake City, Utah, was killed in the Thursday bombing. His decorations included a Purple Heart with two Oak Leaf clusters for wounds suffered in two tours of duty in Vietnam.

Bloomquist, fatally injured by the powerful bomb that devastated the American officers club in Frankfurt, is survived by his widow and two children.

Two other bombs exploded in the Army headquarters building several hundred feet away, wrecking the main entrance hall, a cafeteria and knocking out hundreds of windows.

Ten of the 13 persons injured were American, most of them officers and enlisted men. Three Americans and two Scotswomen remained hospitalized in good condition, the Army said.

The bombings of the U.S. military buildings were unprecedented in postwar West Germany and the Army said stronger security measures were being put into effect.

Surveyed Shoppers Aid Borough's Action Planners

Response to the mail-in shoppers survey, which appeared in last Saturday's Times-Mirror and Observer were very encouraging, according to Thomas G. Hessley, Warren Borough planning assistant.

As of Friday noon close to 150 surveys have been received at the Borough office. The reaction has been so good, in fact, that Kendree and Shepherd, the borough's planning consultant firm has decided to run the form one more time for those that missed it last Saturday. The complete survey can be found on page 12 of today's paper.

Gary Templin, director of the local Kendree and Shepherd office, said last week that a great deal of weight will be placed on the survey results. Writeins will be correlated with phone and on-the-street surveys to give the planners a picture of what the local citizenry feels about Warren's central shopping area.

The survey gives local residents a chance to record their feelings about the downtown business district and make recommendations they think will improve shopping conditions.

Data from the shoppers survey along with information compiled in the on-going merchant and land use surveys, will serve the borough when they draw up the "Action Plan" later this year.

U.S. Denies Automakers' Delay; '75 Pollution Standards Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — Environmental Protection Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus Friday turned down requests from the auto industry for a one-year delay of 1975 antipollution standards.

But he said it was a close decision and that the industry could renew its request if it finds it cannot meet the standards.

Estimates of the extra cost to auto purchasers for antipollution devices vary widely, but testimony from auto makers generally has pointed to $200 to $300 per vehicle.

Ruckelshaus told a news conference that auto makers have the right to challenge his decision in court. His general counsel, John Quarles, Jr., said he had notified companies directly involved within the previous hour, and each of them said only that they would study the decision.

The decision applies specifically to five companies—Volvo, International Harvester, Ford, Chrysler, and General Motors.

But Ruckelshaus made it clear that his finding set the pattern for entire industry.

General Motors said in a statement that the action is regrettable. It said voluminous evidence has disclosed that not even a single experimental car has been able to pass the 1975 certification tests.

At the capitol, Sen. Thomas Eagleton, D-Mo., of the Senate pollution subcommittee, called the decision a hollow victory and said EPA has already given the auto industry major concessions "which make today's decision akin to closing the garage door after the car has been stolen."

Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., House author of the Clean Air Act, hailed the ruling and said, "This may well be the crucial decision that shows we do intend to clean up our environment."

American Motors and Lotus also have applied for the one-year suspension, but Ruckelshaus said their applications were too late to be included in Friday's decision.

In practical terms, he said, his ruling means the auto industry must prepare to install

Recipe For Mother's Day

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) — Looking for a special recipe for Mothers Day dinner? First-grader Scotty Glasscock suggests the following for "tarkey"—turkey to grownups:

"You kil a tarkey. Git the hair off the tarkey. Then put it in the stove and leave it for 2 o'clock. Take out of the stove. Then it is dun."

Scotty is one of 22 children in Mrs. Paul Morgan's first-grade class at Rich Pond School. The youngsters each contributed a recipe for a Mothers Day cookbook, edited by Mrs. Morgan who wrote in the preface: "Only a few words have been changed to protect the reader."

The 26-page book is titled "Adventures in Good Eating???"

"You buy speskey sticks. You put them in a pot. You set them on the stove. You put a lid on the pot. You keep it on the stove for 1 hour. While it is cooking you put speskey sos (sauce) on the stove.

"You let it sit on the stove for an half hour," he continues. "Then you put it on the table."

Rockerick Lowery's suggested "Fat Chicken."

"Just cook 40 degrees. Put it on the oven. Put flower on the chicken." Then Roderick remembered something.

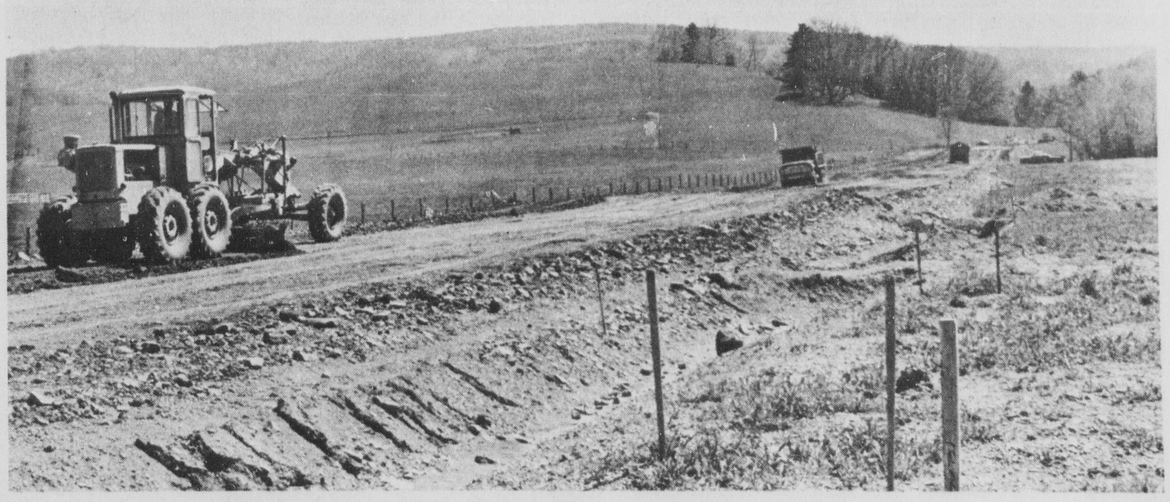

"First kill the chicken. Then clean it. Then put it on the oven."

Chris Pckering offered pumpkin pie.

After getting flour and milk for the crust, she wrote, "get a can of pumpcan. Milk and ags; bake the pie 130 degrees 53 minits to bake it. After bake let cool 10 minits. Then all that's left is to cut and eat."

Regina Barnett recommended "appl pi." "Put the appl pi in pan. Then put the appl pi in the stov. Cuk the appl pi about mins. Eat it now."

Mrs. Morgan, asked if she had sampled any of the recipes, replied, "I'm afraid to. But the kids think they're good chefs."

Hatch Run Road Progresses

Work is progressing on Hatch Run rd. between Rt. 62 above Warren State Hospital and Scandia. A.E. O'Block Construction of Pittsburgh is now building fill on the western end of the roadway as shown here. Work continues on the two bridges, one over the Conewango at Rt. 62 and the other at Hatch Run. The project is behind schedule due to bad weather, but lost time reportedly is being made up on the 5.37 miles of roadwork. The completion date for the $1.5 million project was initially set for September, 1972. (Photo by Mansfield)

Eight Known Dead In Texas Flooding

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex. (AP) — A wall of water sweeping out of flooded streams hit this small Central Texas town Friday and raced southeastward to nearby Seguin, leaving at least 11 persons dead, an undetermined number missing and heavy damage, authorities said.

New Braunfels officials estimated damage in the city of nearly 20,000 at $10 million with at least 1,000 persons homeless.

About a third of the city was without electricity and pressure for the city's water supply was low, but the water was drinkable, officials said. About 1,000 telephones were knocked out in the town and another 500 silenced in Seguin, 16 miles away.

New Braunfels City Manager Jim Hester estimated 4,500 persons fled their homes during the night and early morning hours as torrential rains caused flooding. About three-fourths of the people returned to their homes by dusk.

Police Chief Royce Couch set the death toll late Friday at 11 known dead, including one unidentified female at Seguin. First reports had two dead at Seguin, but police said the body of Mrs. Joe Faust was washed from New Braunfels in the floodwaters.

"It was fast," Comal County Sheriff Walter Fellers said. "We had one area up there in surrounding hills I know that had 10 inches of rain in 1½ hours."

The flood waters receded rapidly as they ran off toward the Gulf of Mexico. The rains began Thursday and Gov. Preston Smith called out the National Guard to help at New Braunfels shortly before midnight. Then the big, boiling crest of the flood hit early Friday morning.

Clarence R. E. Knetsch, agent in charge of the San Antonio office of the Secret Service and a resident of New Braunfels, died in the flood. The Secret Service said Knetsch, 51, was swept away while helping others. His body was recovered two hours later.

The Texas Department of Public Safety said helicopter reconnaissance flights showed about 50 homes flooded in New Braunfels and another 50 flooded in or around Seguin, a town of about 16,000.

Brig. Gen. C.A. Wilson, National Guard commander in charge of rescue operations, said some looting occurred and unarmed Guardsmen were stationed to prevent recurrences.

Wilson said the high water was expected to flood an area between Seguin and Gonzales on the Guadalupe River and lakeside and riverside homes were being evacuated.

Happy Mother's Day?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Terry Melcher sued his mother, actress Doris Day, Friday to find out how much she has made since 1955.

The probate proceeding seeks the account of Miss Day's earnings because a contract gave her late husband, Martin Melcher, 25 per cent of her salary. Melcher, who died April 20, 1968, was Miss Day's manager.

The suit asks that the estate receive 25 per cent of Miss Day's earnings from 1955 until Melcher's death and 12½ per cent of the gross since then.

Bulletin!

Warren State Police and Sheffield twp. police were investigating two accidents near Sheffield shortly after 1 a.m. Saturday. Incomplete reports indicated that no injuries resulted from a three-car accident at the town's west end, while two persons were reported being taken to Warren General Hospital as the result of the other accident, near Barnes.

FAA Seeks Death Penalty Imposition For Skyjackers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Federal Aviation administrator called upon the courts Friday to impose death sentences upon convicted airline hijackers.

Administrator John H. Shaffer said a get-tough attitude, with "speedy trial and maximum sentence," would be a strong deterrent to a continuation of the extortion type hijackings now plaguing the air transportation industry.

Shaffer said the sky marshal program, begun in 1970, has served to dampen enthusiasm in hijacking. Political type hijackings are diminishing, he said, "but we continue to be plagued by the extortion type."

Congress, he said, has made skyjacking a capital crime, with sentences from 20 years to death.

Meanwhile, an admitted airplane hijacker was sentenced Friday to 40 years in prison and another alleged air pirate was ordered examined for what his lawyer said was a brain tumor.

Sentenced in Denver, Colo., to federal prison was Richard C. LaPoint, 23, Revere, Mass. LaPoint pleaded guilty April 12 to the Jan. 20 hijack of a Hughes Air West DC9. He parachuted from the plane with $50,000 in ransom and was captured near Akron, Colo.

Firemen Fight Forest Fire

A careless smoker is believed to have caused a fire Friday evening which burned over 20 acres of forestland near the Jakes Rocks Recreation Area on the Allegheny National Forest.

Over 40 men, using Indian tanks and 1,000 feet of 1½-inch line fought the blaze for nearly three hours. Clarendon received the call at 8:40 and the trucks returned to station at midnight. Pleasant Township firemen were called for mutual aid and Sheffield stood by at Clarendon.

Asst. Fire Chief Tom Dorrion said the fire was about 300 yards downhill from the picnic area along the trails. He said fire hose was handed down from rocks over 30 feet high. Dorrion said the blaze was quite intense and flames at times shot high into the air. Firemen were assisted by six volunteers, not firemen, and four Forest Service personnel.

Hit-And-Run Charge Dropped

Hit and run charges filed April 18 against Joan E. Rice of 209 Fourth ave., Warren, were dismissed Friday afternoon at a hearing before District Justice Martha Lawson.

Warren Borough police officers James Nelson and Richard Kiehl stated they witnessed the mishap during which two cars were struck at about 8:45 p.m. April 11 near the intersection of Pennsylvania ave. east and Irvine st.

Police stated they lost the suspect vehicle in traffic but with a description of the vehicle involved traced its ownership to Miss Rice.

According to the district justice, Miss Rice was able to prove through a witness that she was not the operator of her auto at the time of the alleged hit and run incident.

The defendant was represented by Attorney Samuel F. Bonavita at Friday's hearing.

Bruises, Abrasions In Cycle Accident

A bicyclist and a motorcyclist suffered bruises and abrasions Friday when they collided on Conewango ave., 2½ miles north of Warren. They were not treated, according to Trooper Daniel Portzer.

Eugene Way Jr., 13 of 512 Market, on a bicycle, and Robert H. Stanko, 26, 534 Buchanan st., on a motorcycle, were traveling north. Way made a left turn into the path of Stanko, and both riders were thrown from their vehicles. Damage totaled $42.

Kinzua Dam Outflow Raised For Weekend

The outflow of the Kinzua Dam was increased to 12,000 cubic feet for the weekend to lower the level of the reservoir, this was necessary to permit completion of work on a ramp at Wolf Run Marina, according to Kent Mays, deputy supervisor of the Allegheny National Forest.

Mays said the Corps of Engineers had originally anticipated holding the gates at 7,300 cfs, but changed their operations at the request of the Forest Service.

Construction of a ramp at the marina was stopped recently when the reservoir level exceeded by three feet the anticipated level. Concrete work underway was inundated.

Mays said that the Corps recognized this high flow might inconvenience weekend fishermen but consented to the increased outflow based on the emergency nature of the work at the marina.

Irish Courts Hit Tar-And-Feathering

BELFAST (AP) — Northern Ireland's courts cracked down for the first time Friday on the Irish Republican Army's practice of tarring and feathering offenders against its code, including women.

Three IRA guerrillas each were jailed for four years by a Belfast court for painting, feathering and beating a pregnant housewife.

It was the first court conviction for the summary punishment often meted out by the IRA to alleged informers and other persons supposed to have breached its illegal laws.

The sentence came as another victim of IRA punishment, a 15-year-old girl, lay in a hospital, her hair shorn, her face blackened and bruised after five days of beatings and ill-treatment.

The IRA accused both women of passing information to security forces and giving drugs to youngsters. Both victims denied the charges.

Violence again plagued Northern Ireland. British troops came under fire five times from gunmen in Londonderry, the province's second city and a major flashpoint in the sectarian strife between Roman Catholics and Protestants which has brought a death toll of 318 in 32 months of bombings and shootings.

In Belfast, troops exchanged fire with gunmen in the Catholic Andersonstown district. There were no casualties. Throughout the day, bombs blasted buildings, one shattering a factory, another an amusements arcade, but no one was injured.

Army bomb experts discovered and exploded a 50-pound land mine which they said had been planted to explode under the feet of soldiers in a training ground near Dungannon, in the middle of the province.

The three men convicted in Belfast, all members of the nationalist Provisional wing of the IRA, were William M. Hanna, 19, a laborer; Daniel P. McCashin, 17, an apprentice welder, and Robert A. Austin, 18, a laborer.

All pleaded guilty to assaulting Philomena McGucken, 24, last month. They told the court they did not know she was pregnant and only held her while a group of women daubed her and beat her with hockey sticks at a street corner as people came out of a Catholic church. Mrs. McGucken's mother and two children were forced to watch.

Mrs. McGucken, who was forced out of her home in the Ballymurphy district of Belfast by the IRA, is now living with her children in an area of the city considered safe by security authorities.

Elizabeth Hyland, the 15-year-old girl recovering from similar IRA treatment, was reported in a state of nervous collapse in a Belfast hospital.

Now able to speak only in whispers, she was dragged from her home last week and starved, kicked and beaten for five days in various houses. She was then left slumped by a lamp post in the street, her hair shorn and her body extensively bruised.

Rat Control

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Four counties and 16 municipalities have been awarded state grants totaling $500,000 for rat control programs.

Auto

on its 1975 cars an antipollution device called a "catalytic converter", which filters exhaust gases through chemicals that stimulate cleansing reactions.

Ruckelshaus said his finding assumed the adoption, now under consideration, of a rule requiring most gas stations to make available lead-free gasoline by 1975.

He said he had notified the White House of his intentions about 10 days ago and "they gave me the advice they always give me: that is, to act in the public interest."

Under the Clean Air Amendment of 1970 emission of hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide from 1975 automobiles must be reduced 90 per cent from their 1970 levels.

Ruckelshaus said his decision would mean in practical terms that auto makers must prepare to put "catalytic converters" on their 1975-model cars.

These devices are essentially cans of chemicals which convert harmful exhaust gases into less harmful compounds before they leave the tailpipe.

There have been problems because of the deterioration of these devices as a result of lead in gasoline and because of their wear under driving conditions.

Ruckelshaus said he was allowing for one catalyst replacement during the 50,000 mile lifetime specified by law and was assuming that lead-free gasoline would be available.

Protests

job upon the early morning discovery that about 800 Salt Lake City subscribers were without phone service, the result of the axing of three multiline cables. At one of the three locations, police found a note reading: "End the war by 1 p.m."

Ten antiwar demonstrators went aboard a motorless Navy minesweeper on the Mississippi River at St. Louis, and sent a telegram to the national office of Vietnam Veterans Against the War reading:

"Minesweeper USS Inaugural liberated in St. Louis. Renamed Peoples' Ship Binh Hoa. Attempting to make operable. Need experienced Navy veterans for support and mechanical assistance."

The ship, which once won battle stars in the Pacific, now is a tourist attraction. The protesters paid their way aboard, while 30 other demonstrators sat on the river bank. Owner Robert O'Brien then closed the vessel to the public for the day.

In New York, the United Nations headquarters remained closed to the public for a second day, and the threat of renewed demonstrations did not materialize. The headquarters was closed Thursday during a five-hour sit-in by protesters who chained themselves to seats in the Security Council gallery.

Fines of $10 each were paid during the day by Amherst college president John William Ward, his wife, Barbara, and Mrs. Thomas Mendenhall, wife of the president of Smith College. They were among a large group of demonstrators arrested on charges of disturbing the peace Thursday at Westover Air Force base at Chicopee, Mass.

Morning rush-hour traffic on two major bridges in Kansas City was tied up for the second day in a row, as war protesters used trucks to block the lanes. Traffic backed up more than 1½ miles. There were three arrests.

Four members of Vietnam Veterans Against the War barricaded themselves in the observation deck atop the 29-story City Hall in Kansas City. They demanded a city council resolution condemning the war, and the withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Vietnam.

At Sanford University in Palo Alto, Calif., a firebomb gutted a station wagon early in the day. Three others were thrown against a building housing the Free Campus Movement, a conservative student group, but there was no damage.

While about 200 protested the war outside the state capitol at Hartford, Conn., five members of the Vietnam Veterans Against the War sat-in at an anteroom of Gov. Thomas J. Meskill's office in a symbolic "blockade." The governor already had left his office for the day.

FBI Accepts Women Agents

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation changed its male-only policy Friday to let women apply to become special agents.

J. Edgar Hoover, who died May 2, had vehemently opposed hiring women for the crime investigating jobs when he was FBI director because he said the work was too dangerous.

In announcing the new policy, Acting Director L. Patrick Gray III said the intensive 14-week training course will remain unchanged.

It includes firearms training requiring the applicant to become qualified in the use of a .38 caliber revolver, shotgun and rifle. It also contains a physical fitness program and requires the special agent applicant to become proficient in defensive tactics.

Gray first announced the abandonment of the men-only policy at a meeting Thursday with the bureau's 15 assistant directors.

He also ordered a staff study of how the bureau can increase the number of blacks, Spanish-speaking Americans and American Indians among its corps of 8,600 agents. Now there are little more than 100 agents from minority groups.

Gray also named three young lawyers to be his special assistants. One of them is a woman.

They are David D. Kinley, 30, Barbara L. Herwig, 27, and Daniel M. Armstrong III, 30. All three were on his personal staff while he was assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's Civil Division.

Last Aug. 4, two women filed suit in U.S. District Court in an effort to order Hoover's men-only policy to be declared unconstitutional.

One of the women, Sandra R. Nemser, said Friday in Denver the policy change is "just amazing."

She said she would submit her application as quickly as possible and estimated that "hundreds, if not thousands, of other women will do the same."

"I would really like to meet Mr. Gray and shake his hand," said the 29-year-old lawyer.

Gray said he was changing the policy because of President Nixon's anti-discrimination executive order and the Equal Employment Opportunity Act, which was signed by Nixon on March 24.

As assistant attorney general, Gray was responsible for defending Hoover against the lawsuit filed by the American Civil Liberties Union.

Humphrey Faces Wallace Again In Maryland

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey said Friday if he could meet Gov. George C. Wallace headon in the Maryland presidential primary, "we'd take him to the cleaners."

But he said other entries on the 11-candidate Maryland Democratic ballot will drain away some votes and make Tuesday's contest a tough one.

While Humphrey hunted votes in the Maryland suburbs of Washington, Sen. George McGovern was campaigning in New Jersey and Wallace was at work in Salisbury, on the conservative eastern shore of Maryland.

Some 300 persons greeted Wallace at a Salisbury airport rally. Another rally was scheduled for Cambridge later.

Wallace is generally rated the favorite in Maryland, and appears formidable in Michigan where Democrats also will vote Tuesday.

Humphrey said he cannot believe that Maryland Democrats want their 53 delegates to the Democratic National Convention committed to a candidate "who does not fit into the pattern of modern American politics."

Humphrey campaigned throughout the state before flying on to Detroit.

In Michigan, where opposition to the busing of schoolchildren has bouyed Wallace's prospects, Democrats will be awarding 132 convention votes.

Humphrey said Maryland's is the more significant test, because only Democrats will be able to vote. "This is a Democratic primary," Humphrey said. "In the Michigan primary, its sort of like a tidal wave, Republicans can swish back and forth."

Where crossover voting has permitted Republicans to cast ballots in Democratic contests, Wallace has been the chief beneficiary.

McGovern was to pick up his Maryland campaign Saturday, concentrating on the suburbs outside the Capital.

At a Newark, N.J., news conference, McGovern said the federal government should take over one third of the cost of elementary and secondary education, compared to the 7 per cent it now shoulders. The added federal funds should come from "the elimination of waste in the military budget," McGovern said.

Check For Sewer Study

Conewango Township has received the final 25 per cent of the eligible costs incurred in the preparation of the official plan as provided for in the Pennsylvania Sewage Facilities Act. John Grandinetti, right, environmental protection specialist, presents the check to Robert Kusse, to complete the $2,500 matching grant for the feasibility study. Speaking for William Middendorf, director of the bureau of Community Environmental Control of the Dept. of Environmental Resources, Grandinetti, of DER's headquarters in Warren, commended the township for its efforts in providing sewage facility planning for its community. Chinese-Russian Cooperation Possible To Supply N. Viet LONDON (AP) — Communist diplomats named two south Chinese ports Friday that could take Soviet arms shipments if President Nixon's interdiction of North Vietnam's sea approaches succeeds.

These senior diplomats disclosed that an existing Viet-Chinese-North Vietnamese agreement already provides for the transportation of Soviet supplies by rail across China to Hanoi. Teams of North Vietnamese meet the sealed trains at the Soviet-Chinese frontier and guide them across Chinese territory.

The Communist informants forecast that the U.S. policy of mining North Vietnamese ports almost certainly will lead to the extension of the three-sided agreement to permit Soviet access to harbors in south China, which now are immune from attack.

If this happens, the informants said, North Vietnam's lifelines to its northern sponsors will remain open and the Nixon administration's new policy will have produced extended cooperation between the feuding Russians and Chinese.

The two ports in south China identified by the Communist sources:

—Pakhoi, also known as Peihai, on the Lim River delta. It is easily accessible to the railroad junction of Nanning, in the north, that leads to Hanoi. And it is linked with one of the eight roads that crosses into North Vietnam. Pakhoi, a modern deepwater port, is about 100 flying miles from Hanoi.

—Yamhsien, also known as Ch'inhsien, an inland port about the same distance from Hanoi. It, too, is inside a road network leading to the North Vietnamese railhead of Longson and the port of Mong Cai.

In 1969, military advisers told Nixon's National Security Council the Communists could move up to 16,000 tons of supplies daily along the rail and road systems into North Vietnam.

The President this week said the rail, road and river lines of supply from the Chinese frontier southward will be bombed; strikes already are under way. These raids would, presumably, be intensified if the Communists begin channeling supplies through the ports of south China.

No Survivors Aboard Freighter After Grisly Collision, Fire

(c) N. Y. Times Service

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay — A maritime collision that turned the Royston Grange, a British cargo ship, into a flaming furnace has taken 84 lives, according to Uruguayan authorities.

This is the worst maritime disaster in the River Plate since 130 immigrant passengers and crew of the America died in 1871 after the passenger vessel hit an underwater obstruction and caught fire.

The Royston Grange, carrying a crew of 63, ten passengers, and an Argentine pilot, was a burned out hulk anchored seven miles from this port.

Nine of the 41 crew members, and a pilot, aboard the Tien Chee, a Liberian-flag oil tanker, were missing.

The two vessels collided in fog before dawn yesterday and the oil gushing from the compartments of the Tien Chee burst into flames which swept both ships.

Uruguayan firemen who went aboard the Royston Grange after pouring tons of water on the red-hot hull said they found four charred bodies on the bridge, 30 more bodies in the engine room and at other duty stations, and 28 dead in bunks. There were other bodies on deck reduced to ashes by the intensity of the flames.

"You can't touch the bones because they turn to white dust," said one fireman, back from the ship after 12 hours of fighting the blazes below deck.

Indecision Among Leaders?

Kremlin Weighs Response To Mining

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Indications are that the Kremlin went through an agonizing process of decision making to arrive at its calm response to President Nixon's tough Vietnam posture. It is quite possible the Kremlin has decided that it wants "no more Cubas."

There was little of the agitated crisis atmosphere this time in the Kremlin, the sort of near-panic that became apparent when the Cuban missile crisis exploded 10 years ago with its threat of nuclear showdown.

If the "no more Cubas" idea dictated the mild response this time, it seems likely the decision was made after sharp debate at the highest level.

The odds are that the party boss, Leonid I. Brezhnev, won the argument on the grounds that Moscow could hope to gain much more than it might lose by reacting in low key to the Nixon announcement.

The crisis atmosphere tends to appear in Moscow when events take the leaders by surprise. That was the case in 1962; the Kremlin did not seem to expect President John F. Kennedy to react so vigorously to its attempt to install missiles in Cuba. Nikita Khrushchev was loud but obviously panicky. Moscow also was taken by surprise in the 1967 six-day war in the Middle East—again a crisis situation arose.

There is a strong suspicion that Henry A. Kissinger, the President's adviser, gave Brezhnev and the others a fairly good idea of what to expect. He was in Moscow the weekend of April 22. That provided the Kremlin two weeks to mull it over before Nixon's announcement last Monday.

In such a situation the party leaders and their "defense committee" would confer, but in the long run, the responsibility would be Brezhnev's. There is a fiction that the Communist rule requires decisions by "democratic centralism," meaning a decision is taken only by vote after debate, whereupon nobody thereafter questions it. What happens is that "democratic centralism" is the cover behind which the strongest faction imposes its will.

The Kremlin has had factions ever since Stalin. It has both hawks and doves.

The Soviet statement responding to Nixon, slow in coming, turned out to be one long cliche picturing the American move as "fraught with serious consequences" and causing Moscow to draw "appropriate conclusions." It sounded almost like a parody.

Brezhnev, looking more and more the boss, has obviously taken full charge of foreign policy. He probably can count on the support of other stalwarts who date from the Stalin days, such as Alexei N. Kosygin, Nikolai V. Podgorny and Mikhail Suslov, along with proteges from a later crop brought up under Brezhnev's wing.

Some probably would have opted for a much more militant response. Alexander W. Shelepin, a Politburo youngster at 54, has had his back up in the past, along with a few other "younger" Politburo members. But Brezhnev has seemed more and more confident in dealing with and overcoming such budding opposition.

Brezhnev probably considers that he has a good deal at stake. He does not want a dangerous world crisis now. In fact, quite the reverse—he has been working for an atmosphere of detente. He would like to convince Nixon, for example, that a European security conference this year would do no harm. He would like to have access to European trade and technology and to lessen dependence on NATO. He also would like to build up trade with the United States for the benefit of the Soviet economy.

If the Soviet chief is as concerned as Khrushchev was about that economy, he probably wants to ease some of the burden of enormous investment in superweapons. He can't move in that direction in a showdown atmosphere.

Beimel May Demand Recount In Demo Congressional Race

Ronald T. Beimel, Democratic candidate for U.S. Congress during last month's primary said Friday that he will wait until the official vote counts are filed in Harrisburg next week before deciding whether he will ask for recounts in Centre and Clearfield counties.

Beimel, who lives in Kersey, said there is still confusion concerning the actual outcome of the race.

Unofficial returns reported in the Times-Mirror and Observer on April 27 showed Beimel's opponent, Ernest A. Kassab of Unionville, winning by more than 4,000 votes. According to more recent information, however, Beimel lost by only 1,300 votes.... if he lost at all.

"I think there is something wrong with the returns we got from Clearfield and Center counties," he said. "We spent almost 50 per cent of our time campaigning in Clearfield County and expected to do much better."

He said early returns showed him taking almost 50 per cent of the votes in the two counties. "We were surprised that final tabulations showed me so far behind."

According to the Times-Mirror and Observer's unofficial tallies Beimel lost Centre County 5,414 to 1,814 and Clearfield County 5,288 to 2,266.

Shortly after the election Beimel received a letter of congratulations from Gov. Milton Shapp — a fact that clouds the issue even more.

"I was quite surprised so I called the Governor's office. His secretary said, according to her information, I was the winner."

The final returns are due in Harrisburg on Monday, May 15. Candidates may challenge the returns and ask for a recount in any district 10 to 30 days after the "official" totals are announced, Beimel said.

"If we lose," he added, "we might have them re-open a few boxes in Clearfield and Centre counties."

Kellogg Dazed From Mine Fire

KELLOGG, Idaho (AP) — This stricken silver mining community began marshalling its resources Friday to aid families of 91 miners lost in the Sunshine Co. fire and find jobs for the miners thrown out of work by the disaster.

Union officials, the Office of Emergency Preparedness, the Social Security Administration, the Internal Revenue Service and various legal aid authorities banded together to assist those needing help.

"Basically it's a matter of trying to take care of financial burdens," an official of the United Steel Workers of America said in a special office where he received about three dozen people during the day.

A radio station and the Idaho First National Bank set up a nationwide appeal and an assistant manager said $7,000 already has been received.

Sunshine General Manager Marvin C. Chase promised to find work for as many of the men idled by the mine shutdown as possible. The mine is likely to be closed for months.

Some are needed to continue the work of bringing out 30 bodies still entombed and the lengthy job of sealing off the fire still smoldering more than 3,000 feet down.

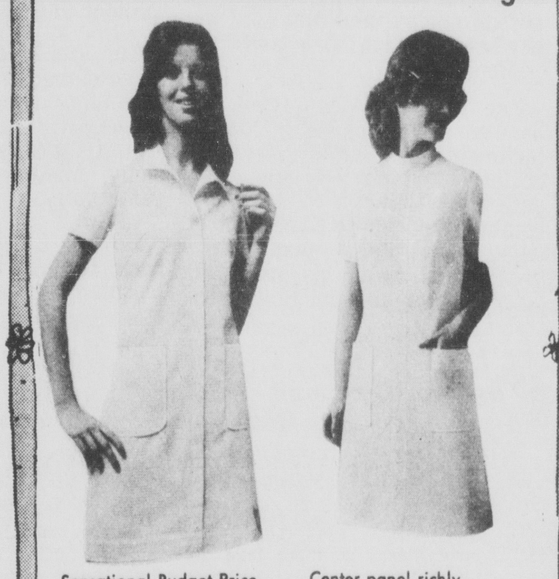

Don P. Schlick, deputy director of health and safety in the Bureau of Mines, said at least four experts from education and training schools are moving in to accommodate those miners who want different jobs elsewhere.

Col. West A Good Man

Colonels come and colonels go in the Pittsburgh office of the U.S. Corps of Engineers. Those leaving the office through retirement or reassignment have usually left those of us who were closely associated with them during their tour of duty with the feeling that our community has lost a friend. The recent retirement of Colonel Ed West was no exception.

In fact, if anything, Colonel Ed's retirement has hit us doubly hard.

For in our associations with him we have found him to be a person of exceptional reasonableness, having the knack of getting to the heart of a problem via the most direct route, deciding on a corrective measure with the least possible delay, and initiating the necessary action in a most expedient manner.

Yet these talents were not limited to Warren County business. His leadership was acclaimed equally throughout the entire Pittsburgh district by communities where flood control dams were being planned or constructed under his guidance, where zoning and building codes were being formulated to alleviate "flood plain" damage, and where local flooding conditions were calling for correction.

His dedicated efforts toward improving water quality throughout his district will long be remembered. Especially in the Pittsburgh area where he served as chairman of the Environmental Quality Committee of the Pittsburgh Federal Executive Board. In this capacity he was responsible for planning and staging the first Tri-State Environmental Symposium, a forum dedicated to informing the public as to what assistance could be had from the government in their efforts to improve and protect the environment.

The loss of Colonel Ed West's professional abilities will be felt in government circles, and especially in the Pittsburgh office of the Corps. and he will be as sadly missed by the Warren community.

He was a "great guy" in our book. The kind of guy there aren't too many of these days.

What Others Say

Why We Oppose Dredging

To many people, I am afraid that conservation means no more than the efficient exploitation of natural resources to produce comfort and wealth. For over two centuries, that concept was workable because our continent was blessed with so many seemingly inexhaustible resources and the white man had only the problem of taming and using the wilderness. It was not very long ago, in fact only really one generation, that significant numbers of people woke up to the fact that there was no more frontier and that the resources were not without end.

Recently the Fish Commission testified at the fact-finding hearings in Franklin, Pennsylvania relating to the dredging permits for sand and gravel in the Allegheny River. The deposits themselves are rather unique in that these are remnants of the out-wash from the last melting glaciers some 14,000 years ago. The rock origins are from far north of Pennsylvania, many of the granites and schists originally were formed in upstate New York and in Ontario. They have particular characteristics that are highly desirable for wear surfaces in highway construction and barring another ice age, it is doubtful that they will ever be replaced. With some of the standards set by PennDOT, these deposits are invaluable for highway construction.

The Fish Commission took a stand at the hearings that dredging, as it has been done, is very damaging to the fisheries; the drop in forage fish in dredged areas is significant, and the complete food chain is broken up. The Fish Commission took its traditional posture that since the present method is damaging to the fisheries, we could not condone it. We trust that the examiners took this into consideration and that their findings will reflect our views to the greatest extent possible. There are methods of dredging and locations where this damage could be minimized.

The deluge of telegrams, letters and calls protesting our stand was almost unbelieveable stating that we were strict preservationists, that we are advocating the closing down of businesses with million dollar payrolls, etc., etc.

Mankind is not an island.... in respect to other men or to other living things, nor even in respect to the non-living or inorganic creations. Without an appreciation of our relationship to nature, without the idea of living with nature, not merely upon nature; we must sooner or later live (or perhaps die) in a world where man will have paid the penalty for doing what he cannot do successfully.... that is, think only of himself.

Thoreau, while still a student at Harvard said the same thing in a different way: "This curious world which we inhabit is more wonderful than it is convenient; more beautiful than it is useful; it is more to be admired than to be used".

I would say that just as individual men cannot live successfully unless they live for something more than merely making a living, we must also regard the earth on which we live as something more than merely that which provides us with a living.

I personally believe that if we do not permit the earth to produce beauty and joy, it will not in the end produce food and fibre either.

Survivor Potts Tells The World About 1972

By Art Buchwald

"This is the New Zealand Television Network. In a minute, we will bring you an exclusive interview with Hiram Potts who, as you all know, was found by our anthropologists in the Grand Canyon several weeks ago. Mr. Potts is believed to be the only living American left after the nuclear holocaust 10 years ago in 1972. It was believed at the time that everyone had been killed, but Mr. Potts somehow managed to survive and, according to our doctors, is in good health. Since his arrival in this country, he has been besieged by newspapermen and publishers, and this is the first eyewitness account as to what happened in those fateful days.

"Mr. Potts, could you tell us exactly what took place in 1972?"

"First, I'd like to say I didn't surrender to the Commies. I could have held out for years in the Grand Canyon and they never would have got me."

"Mr. Potts, there are no more Communists. They were all wiped out, too. As far as we know, New Zealand is one of the few countries that still exists in the world. Our people are now sailing around the globe trying to find out if there is anybody else alive. Now, tell us exactly what happened."

"I'm not really certain. I was on a camping trip, so all I know is what I heard on the radio. First, I heard President Nixon make a speech, and he said something about the honor of the United States being at stake."

"Where was the honor of the United States at stake&"

"In some place called Vietnam. You see, the President said we wouldn't have peace in the world unless we got an honorable peace in Vietnam.

"Then he said he was going to mine the Haiphong Harbor and it was up to the Russians to decide if they wanted peace or not. The Russkies had to understand a great power couldn't be humiliated."

"Adn what happened, Mr. Potts?"

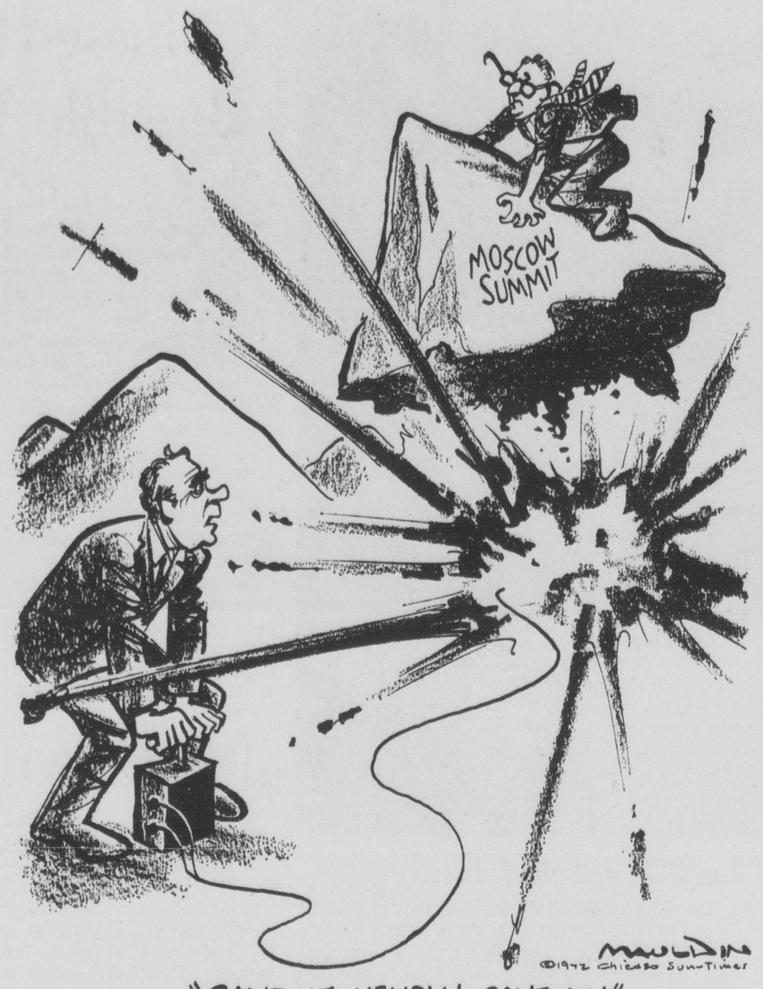

"Then I heard the Russians announce they were for peace, too, but they couldn't afford to be humiliated either. After that, the Red Chinese announced that they couldn't be humiliated because they were also a major power."

"Would you say then the reason the whole thing started was because none of the big powers could afford to be humiliated?"

"Something like that. Of course I don't understand all the things that go on in foreign affairs, but it seems to me that was the start of the whole thing. As I said, I was camping at the time in the Grand Canyon, and my radio wasn't working too good. I picked up occasional phrases like "freedom for the South Vietnamese people," and "treachery in the peace talks in Paris." And I heard someone say the only way we could have peace was to let the other side know we wouldn't back down. The Russkies were talking about supporting their North Vietnamese allies and warned if any of their ships were sunk, the United States would have to pay the consequences. And the Chinese said they wouldn't stand by and allow Hanoi to be defeated. It got all mixed up and I couldn't follow it."

"Then what happened?"

"Well, one day I heard a lot of explosions and I saw some mushroom clouds floating above me, but I didn't think anything of it. I turned on my radio but I couldn't get any station at all, so I figured my batteries had gone dead."

"SAVE IT, HENRY! SAVE IT!"

N.Y. Democrats Fight For Seats

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON — The Democrats are playing musical chairs in New York. The nation's largest city now has 19 seats in the House. But its share of the population has dropped, and at least two of the city's representatives have to go. The result is a pair of hard-fought primaries June 20.

Abzug vs. Ryan

In Manhattan, freshman Rep. Bella S. Abzug found her district chopped up by the mapmakers in the Republican Legislature. So she challenged fellow Democrat William F. Ryan, another incumbent. Abzug and Ryan disagree about few if any issues. Both are liberal reformers, fiercely anti-war and rebellious against the congressional power structure.

Abzug, 51, called the redistricting "an attempt by male politicians to dismember a district represented by a woman" and said she had to make the challenge to keep feminism alive in Congress. "I'm an activist," she said, "and Bill isn't. It's as simple as that."

Ryan and his followers are furious. "I've always believed there should be a certain morality in politics, so I was naturally surprised when she decided to run against me," said Ryan, 49, who challenged the party machine and won his first election in 1960.

Ryan underwent serious throat surgery two years ago. He says he is recovered, and he works a full schedule; but he looks thin and speaks in a hoarse voice. Manhattan sources concede the health issue will have an effect, but they aren't sure which way it will cut. It could persuade voters that Abzug would be the more vigorous representative — or it could generate a sympathy vote for Ryan.

Bingham vs. Scheuer

Another chair is being removed in the Bronx, and either Rep. Jonathan B. Bingham or Rep. James H. Scheuer will have to give up his seat in January. Like Ryan and Abzug, both are liberal Democrats, and the contest has more to do with personalities than with issues.

Most of the new district is now represented by Bingham, giving him an apparent edge. But there is an ethnic factor. Scheuer is Jewish, as are 60 percent of the constituents. Bingham is a Congregationalist.

Scheuer isn't exactly telling the voters to support him because he's Jewish, but he isn't letting them forget it, either. In January, he was ordered to leave the Soviet Union for meeting with dissident Jewish groups there. He tells synagogue audiences of his pledges for Israel Bonds and the United Jewish Appeal. His campaign literature shows him photographed next to Moshe Dayan.

Scheuer, who has the support of most of the district's Democratic reform clubs, says he can help the Bronx from his place on the Education and Labor Committee. Bingham, who has the Liberal Party endorsement, says his position on the Foreign Affairs Committee is an asset to Israel and to the anti-war movement. Otherwise, they don't have much to argue about.

Incumbents Challenged

Two other Democratic primaries in New York City have attracted attention, because two of the senior men in the state's House delegation are threatened. John J. Rooney, 68, and James J. Delaney, 71, have sat in Congress together since 1949, symbols of the Irish machine politics that used to dominate the city.

In Rooney's district, on the Brooklyn waterfront, former Rep. Allard K. Lowenstein has moved in from Long Island with teams of youthful volunteers similar to the ones that have helped win campaigns for himself and other anti-war candidates in the past four years. Rooney is depending on the organization of Brooklyn Democratic leader Meade Esposito to pull him through.

Delaney has been marked for purging by Queens Democratic leader Matthew J. Troy Jr., who has chosen City Councilman Thomas J. Manton as Delaney's opponent. Troy charges that Delaney is closer to President Nixon than he is to most Democrats. Troy is putting the squeeze on local Democratic politicians, cutting off their patronage if they don't back Manton. "Some of them aren't committed to Manton because they want to be," said Troy. "Some of them are committed because I'm breaking their backs. And I'll continue to break their backs." Delaney is confident his old friends will back him despite Troy's influence.

Nixon's Last Stand

By Wm. F. Buckley, Jr.

President Nixon was altogether galvanizing in his speech, and he touched on heroic themes that brought a shudder of self-respect to the public, which responded in an avalanche of telegrams in a favorable ratio of 4-1, notwithstanding that the verbalists are mostly on the other side and of course are blabbing away.

The stock market, which must be the major poltroon of the western world, instantly dove for cover, for reasons unclear to the uninitiated: if we are going to have a world war, does it really matter whether our money is in or out of the market? As has happened in the past, the silent majority is speaking out, apparently in support of Richard Nixon, and disdaining the kind of hysteria which one day is going to get the editors of the New York Times committed, so help me.

One would hope that the people would not be disappointed. That, in the end, they would have got something more than the purely rhetorical satisfaction of hearing the commander-in-chief say to the enemy: you are not going to get away with it. Our navy and our air force will not permit it, will not permit an end to the Indochinese affair whose meaning for America is 50,000 dead soldiers with nothing accomplished. As regards standing behind Mr. Nixon, one does so full-heartedly. At times like this, he is our president.

But then, inevitably, analysis sets in.....

1. We have drastically reduced our peace terms. We have said to the enemy that he need not withdraw to his own borders. He may stand where he is, his twelve divisions remaining where they are now situated in South Vietnamese territory, occupying one provincial capital, at the gates of two others. Indeed Mr. Nixon didn't even say that his terms lapse if they are not immediately accepted. They appear to be open-ended, so that there seems to be nothing to stand in the way of the North Vietnamese continuing their offensive until the opportune moment and then announcing that they will go for cease-fire.

2. We are then pledged (assuming they will give us back our 500 prisoners) within a period of four months to end totally our military role in all of Indochina. Pull out our troops, open up the harbors, stop aerial activity. During this period there would appear to be nothing to prevent the enemy from stocking up his military inventories, preparatory to launching an offensive sometime after the four months are up—though they might not even need to do that, at that demoralized moment.

3. At four months plus X, it would all appear to reduce to: the North Vietnamese, armed by the Soviet Union and the Chinese with the most advanced weapons in their armory, against the South Vietnamese deprived of an air force that can retaliate against the enemy, and of the use of the American air force. It is impossible to find anywhere in Mr. Nixon's speech or in any statement issuing out of the Pentagon anything at all that would suggest that the intervening four months would find the South Vietnamese military situation critically improved.

4. The Soviet Union is not gravely challenged. We have not imposed on it the humiliation of demanding that its ships be boarded or searched. They can putter about as they like, attempting, if they find it productive, to penetrate the harbor under escort of minesweepers. If one or two of them go down, the blame is impersonally visited on the mine, rather than on the captain of a United States warship, and the psychological impact is different. Meanwhile Soviet officials can permit Richard Nixon to come to Moscow under rhetorical cover of his para-blockade — confident in their strategic knowledge that four months from now the North Vietnamese will consummate their aggression against South Vietnam, and that the great American people, speaking through three presidents, with our vast army, navy and air force, who went pot-valiantly to war to defend our allies, after seven years of ambiguity, were reduced to shouting our defiances into the television cameras, while we tucked ourselves back in between the big, comforting oceans.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Nixon Newsmanager At It Again

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON— President Nixon is again releasing selective information from his secret advices in an attempt to manage the Vietnam news.

He has taken excerpts out of context which give a misleading impression of Vietnam developments.

The White House has spread the word, for example, that the mining of Haiphong harbor will affect the fighting in Vietnam within two or three weeks. Sources with access to the secret estimates flatly dispute this. Although the predictions vary, most estimates warn that Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, the fabulous North Vietnamese commander, has enough men and material at the fighting fronts to last three or four months.

The secret reports express grudging admiration for Giap's genius at moving supplies under hazardous, almost impossible conditions. The American high command still can't figure out how he moved Soviet tanks, heavy artillery and antiaircraft missiles into South Vietnam without American planes spotting and destroying them.

In any case, the intelligence reports claim only about one-third of the Soviet equipment reaches North Vietnam by ship. Our most massive bombing has also failed to halt the flow of enemy armaments over the land supply routes. The secret consensus, therefore, is that the President's drastic actions in the North will have only a minimal effect on the fighting in the South.

Earlier, the President quoted Gen. Creighton Abrams, the American commander in Saigon, as saying the South Vietnamese army was fighting courageously and well. Sources with access to Abrams's secret reports tell us this message was taken out of context. Actually, Abrams had raised grave questions about the South Vietnamese military leadership, battle tactics and dependence on air support.

The Abrams message, which the President quoted, intended to convey in its full context only that the South Vietnamese were fighting better than the General had expected.

The President's foreign policy czar, Henry Kissinger, has also told the press that Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev led him to believe in Moscow that a Vietnamese settlement would come from renewed negotiations.

Sources with access to the full text of the Kissinger-Brezhnev talks agree that the Soviet leader encouraged the United States to renew negotiations. But Brezhnev was emphatic in declaring that the Soviet Union would not intervene to arrange a settlement and would not decrease its arm shipments to North Vietnam. Brezhnev suggested only that the Vietnamese war need not jeopardize Russian-American relations.

Clearly, the President, in taking the American people into his confidence about the Vietnamese war, is playing the old game of pick-and-choose.

SEC CONNIVANCE

The Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), which is supposed to guard the public against corporate conniving, has joined the connivers in a multimillion-dollar case.

The commission has shown a strange concern for the welfare of American Electric Power, the nation's largest electric holding company, which is dead determined to take over an Ohio electric company worth $500 million.

To help grease the political skids, American Electric has mobilized senators, congressmen, mayors and other influential figures. Indeed, the SEC staff has accused American Electric's lawyer lobbyist, Arvin Alexander, of soliciting letters "designed to improperly influence" the SEC proceedings.

But the commissioners seem more impressed with a corporate giant and its political allies than with their own staff. For example, the commissioners, headed by Chairman William Casey, have sided with American Electric in its efforts to bypass the staff hearing examiner, Irving Schiller.

Although Schiller has worked four years on the case, the commissioners notified him in a blunt, one-page memo that they want to take the case away from him and decide it themselves. The bold Schiller, however, is resisting.

An SEC staff team, headed by gruff, grizzled Sol Freedman, has also fought in behalf of the consumers against the American Electric takeover. The staff accused the company of "unwholesome and retaliatory actions....aimed at a witness."

But the commissioners killed subpoenaes designed to get the truth of these charges.

From our own sources and 30,000 pages of official evidence, we have discovered a variety of pressure tactics used by American Electric. Consider these examples.

— We found a 1969 letter from Mayor M.E. Sensenbrenner of Columbus, Ohio, suggesting that then-Senator Stephen Young, D-O, approach "the staff or members of the SEC" to help swing the deal for American Electric.

— Sen. Robert Taft, R-O., asked acting Attorney General Richard Kleindienst to intervene in behalf of American Electric. This awkward request was made while Kleindienst was under Senate fire for intervening in the ITT case. The embattled Kleindienst refused to help the corporate utility.

—American Electric fired Prof. James Nelson, who had been retained by the company as a lecturer, after he testified against the takeover. Ironically Nelson was going to teach the corporate executives about public utilities regulations.

Meanwhile, American Electric has come up with a dubious settlement offer. Even if it is accepted, the settlement could require further lengthy hearings at the SEC.

Footnote: It is worth mentioning that Don Cook, American Electric's president and chairman, once served as chairman of the SEC which now seems so eager to help his company.

Cook was out of the country and couldn't be reached. His executive vice president, Herbert Cohn, denied that there had been any improper pressures in the SEC proceedings. He declared: "If you talk with anyone in the area (served by the Ohio company)—press, chamber of commerce, political officials —you'll find that they are very interested in bringing American Electric Power in. They think it would be in the best interests of the area."

'HEY, WAKE UP—WHERE ARE WE?'

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q) I know that the proceeds of a life insurance policy received upon death generally are not taxable, but what about the lump sum I receive when I cash in my policy? Is that also tax exempt?

A) If you surrender your life insurance policy for a lump sum, you must include in income only that portion of the proceeds of the policy in excess of what you paid for it.

Q) I have two jobs. Can I deduct transportation expenses between one place of work and the other?

A) If you work at two places in a day, whether or not for the same employer, you may deduct the expense of getting from one place to the other. However, if for some personal reason you do not go directly from one location to the other, you may deduct only the amount it would have cost you to go directly from one location to the second. Transportation expenses incurred in going to and from a part-time Saturday job are commuting expenses and nondeductible.

Q) My son earned over $2,000 from a summer job last year but banked most of it. Do I count the earnings he saved as support furnished by my son when figuring out whether I can claim him as a dependent?

A) Income not spent by your son does not have to be counted towards his support. However, if your son spends part of his 1971 savings this year on support items, that amount counts toward support for 1972.

Conversational Counselling And Compost

By Bernie Wingert, County Agent

"Yes, I'm surely glad you asked, I am feeling a lot better." And what could be a nicer subject for this week's conversation, since It's the 52nd observance of National Hospital Week?

It all started you see two weeks ago Friday morning when I woke up to start the new day. Now, I should tell you, that even under the very best of circumstances I don't wake up with a burst of enthusiasm and bound out of bed like a Buck Deer. Ordinarily I give very careful thought to the idea of rising from my pillow for at least three minutes. On that particular morning I turned my head to look out the window at the pine trees which guard the house. They sway and whisper just a few feet away, and to my surprise they laid right over ninety degrees, and then just as quickly whipped right back the other way. I watched this event for a while and being a fellow of sound judgment decided that a tornado was in progress, and so I focused my attention to conditions inside the bedroom. And you've probably already guessed it, the room too was tilting in the same manner, from one side to the other. "I'd better do something about this," I thought, and so I closed my eyes. By keeping them shut and extending my arms full length, and grabbing the mattress with the tender grasp of a three-year-old clutching the mane of a runaway horse, I was able to slow everything down in a minute or so and then I got up. I think that's where I made my mistake!

I told the four girls that live with me that I felt a little dizzy, but they probably thought it was from bending over to put the breakfast dishes in the dishwasher. And then I went to work still light headed, but if I didn't bow to anyone or turn my head too quickly in either direction I could stand upright with a minimum of effort.

I was expecting a dairy specialist from Penn State to arrive shortly and we were going to Lander. About 10:00 a.m. we started up there, but I began to get weak and my stomach felt as if the puffed wheat was going to be recycled. Not only that but I couldn't see well, so we headed back to Warren. I could have driven back, because I know the road so well, but he didn't seem to care for me driving with my eyes shut, and he took over.

We made a brief stop at the Doctor's office, and from that point on for the next few days I just stayed horizontal.

Now I'd like to tell you in a very brief manner all about the "Intensive Care Unit." As far as I know everyone rolls in on a cart. Maybe some people stroll in and jump into a bed, but nobody did that while I was there.

I didn't have my note pad so some of this may be a little out of order. First, all the nurses smile at you. And then they take off your clothes and tie the hospital nitie around your neck. That's the only place it ever stays on properly after that—around your neck. Next you get a needle in your arm which is hooked up to a sugar water bottle hanging over your head. This is followed quickly by a string of wires which are glued to your left collar bone, your right collar bone, and your center chest bone. Note: (I will be using a lot of technical and medical terms which may be confusing, but if you followed the wiring setup you can understand this O.K.)

These wires go up to a machine that looks very much like the surface search radar set I long ago operated while in the Navy during World War II. I think it operates on the same principle. As long as the "pip" rises the target is still afloat. When it doesn't something's sunk!

To get back to the procedure in the Intensive Care Unit, there are still a few things that happen before you're really settled in. Following the plastic tube, and the wiring, comes another smile and then a needle jab in the right hip, which from that point on makes you very weak. In fact, I felt as if I had been carrying wheat in a three bushel bag ot the second floor grainary bin for about ten hours. Now only you men who have carried wheat from a threshing machine will understand this particular weakness, but that's the best way I know to describe it. After the needle comes a paper cup full of pills followed by a drink of water and then you're ready to do nothing. The only problem is—now you need the urinal!

So that's the routine in the Unit, pills "gulp," —needle "bam,"—smile "nurse," urge "can." And for the next few days it's a dopey, lazy, routine of gulp, bam, "Thank you, mam."

Well after a few days in there they rolled me down to the X-ray works on a cart, that must have had two flat wheels. Because my head ached and I can't imagine the floors could possibly be as rough as it felt on that buggy.

Then I got my own room. I could see the new construction of the boiler plant by looking out the window. I thought that would be nice to pass the time. I was wrong! Some guy with an air hammer kept using it right below my bed. If only the thumps in my head could have been synchronized with the thumps of the hammer it would have been O.K., but they were alternating. Well I said, "Please Lord give me enough strength to get out of this bed, and go down there and take that hammer away from that bird and I'll throw it into the river." But he didn't answer that particular one.

Fate stepped in the next day—"We're moving you across the hall since we need this place for two ladies," said a nice nurse. So I moved down the hall, and got a very quiet room overlooking the Park. I think about those poor ladies often.

My head still ached, but the Doctor said I should come home last Friday and breathe this good Hilltop air. And so I did, and I've been getting better every day since. I'm even thinking of going to work again next week.

So now as I sit here at the dining room table writing this, I want to use the last few words very seriously. The table is piled high with cards and letters. I'm overwhelmed with your thoughtfulness. The room is full of flowers from those who work with me. In the front lawn, a flowering crabapple is just ready to burst into bloom, a gift from some neighbor friends, and carefully planted by my county agent buddies who were here to visit. I've received books, and "chicken soup," and get well gifts, and phone calls, and visits from so many. Those people at the hospital were simply the most wonderful folks in the world. And what can I say to all this? A heartfelt Thanks seems inadequate. But believe me I am grateful.

Out of the experience comes a time for reflection, and perhaps the best way to express my ideas to my family and to you friends everywhere is to simply say that the whole thing has meant more excitement, more joy, and peace, and love, and a sense of togetherness, along with a sense of redirection. What more can one guy ask?

Judge Wolfe Sentences Jamestown Man To Western

A charge of burglary coupled with a past record both as a juvenile and an adult, resulted in a one to three year sentence in Western Diagnostic Classification Center at Rockview for a Jamestown, N. Y. man.

Richard L. Marsh was also ordered to pay costs, $300 fine and made full restitution to his victim.

Testimony by Trooper Harry W. Jabo, criminal investigator for Warren substation revealed that on March 5, 1972 a call was received from James Crampton, of 1621 Jackson Run rd., Warren, that upon his return home he found his residence had been ransacked.

Stolen were a TV, stereo record player, clock radio, a camera, two $20 bills, one $10 bill and one $5 bill. Total value was listed at $366. Crampton also told police that a man with long hair, wearing one earring had been seen in the area.

According to Jabo, informants in Jamestown, N. Y. led police to an apartment located at 404 W. 5th st., Jamestown where occupants were taken into custody by Jamestown police. Found in the apartment were a stereo and clock radio which were later identified by Crampton as his missing property. Jabo said a quantity of marijuana and hashish was also found.

Although Marsh was not in the apartment at the time, a description of him was provided that matched that given by Crampton and Marsh was subsequently located in Chautauqua County Jail following his arrest March 28 by New York State authorities for disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

Jabo stated that Marsh waived extradition and was returned to Warren County to face the burglary charge April 10. He appeared before District Justice Ruth Mills and was remanded to the county jail in lieu of $500 bond.

In imposing sentence, Judge Robert L. Wolfe noted that the defendant had, in addition to his juvenile record, been convicted for public intoxication, disorderly conduct, two separate burglary charges in New York State for which he served one year each in jail and his conviction here.

John I. McKrell, 116 Davis st., Youngsville, charged with hit and run and driving under the influence following an accident April 3, 1972 on Pennsylvania ave., was sentenced to pay costs, $150 fine and serve 10 days in jail. According to testimony of Patrolman James Tenney of Warren Borough police department, McKrell had already made full restitution for damage to the other vehicle.

McKrell asked the court if he could serve his jail term weekends since he might lose his job. His request was denied by Judge Wolfe who stated that despite economic strain on the defendant, the court could not function on that basis.

Susan Kitelinger, 416 Cobham Park rd., Warren, charged with false pretense by check, was ordered to pay costs of prosecution only due to her previous good record. The charge resulted when a check for $44.55 cashed at a local store was returned by the bank marked account closed.

Marve Ream of Bradford, cited for driving under the influence, received the minimum first offense sentence, costs, $150 fine and 10 days in jail. Failure to pay costs and fine would mean an additional 30 day jail sentence.

Driver Backs Into Window

A Warren driver backed his truck into the plate glass window at Roy's Laundromat in Youngsville Thursday night, causing close to $400 damage.

Youngsville Borough Police Officer Fred Carter investigated the accident and reported that Philip J. Harkins, 27, of 2707 Pennsylvania ave. west was backing his truck in the parking lot at Lind's Quaker State, 3 N. Main st., when he crashed through the plate glass window at the neighboring coin laundry.

No one was hurt and there was no damage to the truck, police said.

Scott Solidly Backs Presque Isle Project

U. S. Senator Hugh Scott this week solidly endorsed legislation calling for the continuation and expansion of a beach erosion project for Presque Isle Peninsula in Erie.

Joining Senator Richard S. Schweiker (R-Pa.) in introducing this bill, the Minority Leader said that Presque Isle Beach is "tremendously important to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as an outstanding water recreation area." Severe storms which hit the beach late last year caused extensive damage to the access highways and to the shore protection facilities.

Senator Scott had previously sought to have funding for the beach restoration included in next year's budget, urging the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to expedite their projected restoration plans so that Federal funds would be available.

Authority for federal participation in the Presque Isle Project expired one year ago. This new authorization will extend the government's participation and will authorize the expenditure of $3.5 million.

Concluding, Senator Scott said, "The citizens of Erie and the Commonwealth's entire northwest region deserve a first rate water recreation area. The beach must be restored."

Clarendon Man In Area Mishap

TIONESTA — A car operated by Eugene Chilcoat, 43, of RD 1, Clarendon, was involved in an accident at 9:30 p.m. Wednesday in Kingsley Township, Forest County.

The other driver was Ruth Donahey, 36, RD 1, Tionesta, According to state police, the two cars collided while traveling south on Whig Hill.

Damage to the Donahey vehicle was estimated at $75 while damage to the Chilcoat auto is unknown at this time.

'Help Us Help Them' Is Theme Of Retarded Children Radiothon

Area residents who are "tuned in" to the expanding needs os the Warren County Chapter, Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children, should tune in Station WNAE at 10 a.m. today. That's when the Radiothon to raise $25,000 is scheduled to begin.

"Help Us Help Them" is the theme for the Radiothon which will feature area talent throughout the day except for a breaktime for noontime news coverage. The broadcast will emanate from Knights of Columbus Hall.

Proceeds from pledges will be used toward expansion of two new projects, the Growth and Development Center for handicapped children and ARC enterprises, as well as a Sheltered Workshop for handicapped individuals, 16 years of age or over.

The workshop now has 15 clients ranging in age from 17 to 40, and functions totally on the support of the community and the Retarded Childrens Association of Warren.

To accomplish its purpose of vocational training and helping individuals gain job experience, the workshop performs a variety of jobs sub-contracted from local industries. ARC enterprises has packaged over one million screws and washers for Groboski Industry in Sheffield.

In the near future participants will be assembling photography lamps for Chemical Products. They are also cleaning metal dies for Torpedo Wire and Strip. The money received is paid directly to workshop clients for labor.

Warren County Association for Retarded Children's pre-school growth and development classes are run daily at Trinity Memorial Episcopal Church of Warren. Classes are taught by Carolyn Shafer, assisted by Jean Gustafson.

Taught are basic skills, coordination, perceptual skills, relative shapes and sizes. Children are taught at a speed that reflects their ability to learn. In addition to the social aspects of the classroom, these pre-school children will be better able to adapt to the public school situation.

WARC people are transported to and from the workshop and the school in a van donated by the Jaycees. They are now raising funds for the van. Mike Anthony is the driver, aided by Valerie Kifer.

There is a need for the two projects in Warren County. There is also a need for the entire community to support today's Radiothon campaign to continue to help further educate the handicapped individuals — to help them become productive members of the community.

Workshop For Handicapped

A Sheltered Workshop for handicapped individuals now has 15 clients ranging in age from 17 to 40 functions through the support of the community and Retarded Childrens Association of Warren. Mrs. Jackie Ota, third from left, is an aide at the local workshop, helping individuals gain job experience.

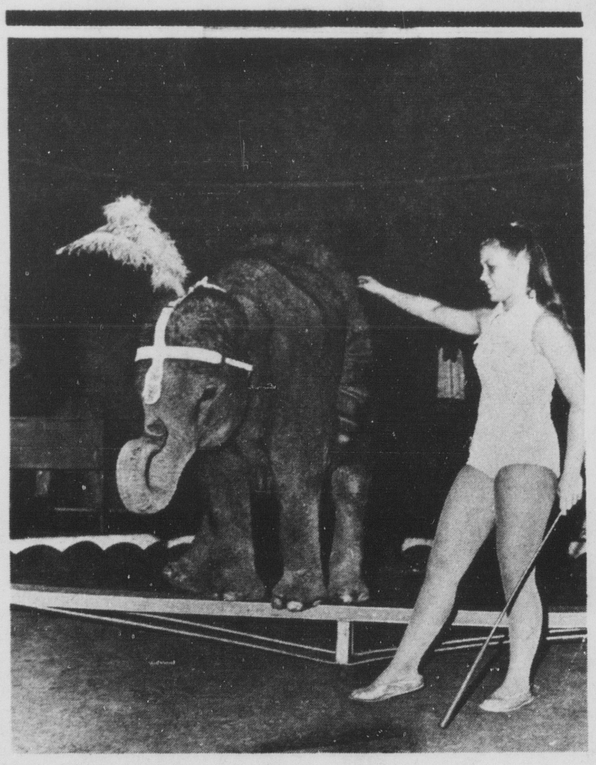

Transportation

Pre-school children attending special classes daily at Trinity Memorial Church and those clients at the sheltered workshop are transported in a van donated by Warren Jaycees. Van driver and aide at the workshop is Mike Anthony, in the van. Pictured also is his assistant, Valerie Kifer. Jaycees are now raising funds for the van.

Work For Industry

Two members of the Sheltered Workshop crew are pictured cleaning and sorting metal dies used to make different sizes of wire at Torpedo Wire and Strip. Money received by participants is paid directly to workshop clients for labor. The workshop, however, needs community support during today's fund-raising Radiothon.

Circus Attraction

A young circus cuite, Miss Vee, puts one of the six baby elephants through a routine in the center ring of Hoxie Bros. Circus which comes to the Warren airport showgrounds, Wednesday, June 21 with two performances at 2 and 8 p.m. The show carries the only pair of baby African elephants ever imported. They appear under the direction of John Herriott at each performance.

Pre-School Class

Mrs. Carolyn Shafer, instructor at pre-school classes sponsored by Warren County Association for Retarded Children, guides the willing hands of the 1972 Poster Child for today's Radiothon Fund Raising Drive, little Miss Laura Beth Fasciana.

Many Help N.W. Kiwanis In Fund-Raising Effort

It's true the North Warren Kiwanis Club actually sponsors the local appearance of Hoxie Bros. Circus. But it is also true the major fund-raising effort could not be successful without support of many other groups.

Local merchants willingly purchase tickets for their customers. Borough Manager Frank Strange and other borough employes are generous in their offers to help. C. P. Saupp, district engineer for PennDOT is the man responsible for final approval for use of the lot.

Once again, continuing a tradition established when Ringling Bros. played Warren in the 1950s, the Airport showgrounds will be the stage for Hoxie Bros. Circus. Two full and complete performances will be given Wednesday, June 21 at 2 and 8 p.m. Doors will open one hour earlier to permit visits to the menagerie and combined side shows.

This year, ticket chairman Rob Benson, Park st. in North Warren, has made a special effort to get group sales for scout troops, baseball teams and youth groups. Special blocks of tickets at reduced prices are now on sale. Each advance ticket purchased from any Kiwanian prior to circus day results in a larger profit for local civic activities and 50-cents per ticket savings to Warren circus fans.

The Hoxie show was featured in the March issue of National Geographic magazine and this year presents a flying trapeze act for the first time; the triumphant return of King Charles Weathersby's Bourbon Street Dixieland Band; the intrepid lion tamer, Prince Bogiono and, direct from Ringling Bros., Johnny Herriott's Elephant Kindergarten with six baby elephants.

Any merchants who would like to purchase tickets for their "circus of values" sales promotion as a "thank you" to their customers, are asked to contact Larry Anderson, president, at Anderson's Specialties. Kiwanian Bud Guiffre is in charge of North Warren school ticket sales.

Death before Birth?

Q. - WHAT IS THE CENTRAL ISSUE IN THE DEBATE OVER LEGALIZING ABORTION?

A. - The issue is whether or not the law should sanction, directly or indirectly, the destruction of innocent human life. When easy abortion laws exist, the life of the unborn has no protection. Thus, abortion strikes at the fundamental freedom as stated in the U.S. Bill of Rights and the Constitution, which guarantees all men equal rights, the first of which is the right to life.

Q. - IS UNBORN LIFE REALLY HUMAN LIFE?

A. - Latest scientific advancements have clearly shown that from the moment of conception human life is present. Development from this point is quite rapid with such vital functions as the heart, nervous system and spinal column in evidence by the fourth week. In 1969, at the First International Conference on Abortion, noted scientists said, "The majority of our group could find no point in time between the union of sperm and egg and the birth of the infant, at which point we could say that this was not a human life."

Q. - HAVE THE COURTS RECOGNIZED THE LEGAL RIGHTS OF THE UNBORN?

A. - There have been many decisions which have favored the unborn: the right to inheritance, the right to sue for damages incurred before birth, the right to blood transfusions, the right for the mother to receive Social Security payments for the child BEFORE its birth. The Courts have clearly awarded the status of personhood to the unborn in each of these decisions and others similar to them.

BY WHAT AUTHORITY CAN AN UNBORN BABY LIKE THIS BE DESTROYED?

Q. - SHOULD ONE GROUP, SUCH AS THE CATHOLIC CHURCH, TRY TO IMPOSE ITS MORALITY ON EVERYONE?

A. - This is an accusation made by the proponents for easy abortion laws, suggesting that this is strictly a Catholic issue. Because the Catholic Church or any group defends the right to life of the unborn, does not make it "their" issue. If we accept the scientific evidence that the unborn is human and join this with the Bill of Rights, the First, Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments of the Constitution, then we will understand that the right to life of the unborn is the concern of every person.

Q. - ARE ABORTIONS ALWAYS PERFORMED WITHOUT PAIN TO THE UNBORN?

A. - There is no method of abortion which is painless to the child because the intended end is his death. Lately, there have been disturbing reports of a number of aborted fetuses who lived for some time after being removed from the mother's womb and then allowed to die. In Buffalo, New York, during the past year, an aborted child lived and was adopted by a loving and appreciative couple.

Q. - WHY ALLOW A CHILD TO BE BORN INTO AN OVERPOPULATED AND POLLUTED WORLD?

A. - Death by means of abortion is not the answer to over-population or pollution. Abortion is a negative response to problems which are demanding creative and positive answers with the cooperative efforts of all. Who can determine whether this child might hold the key, or at least a vital part, to answering some of the problems we face. Moreover, man's destiny is that of a human being created by God and this nascent human being cannot deliberately be deprived of his life. That is nothing but Murder.

Sutton Snags Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Unbeaten Don Sutton hurled a four-hitter, Frank Robinson hit a three-run homer and Bill Russell belted a solo shot as the Los Angeles Dodgers trounced the Philadelphia Phillies 6-1 Friday night.

Sutton, who entered the game with an earned run average of 0.42 and allowed Montreal only one hit in 10 innings in his last start, raised his record to 5-0.

Robinson connected off loser Dick Selma, 1-3, for his third home run of the year following singles by Bill Buckner and Willie Davis in the fifth inning.

The Dodgers took a 4-0 lead in the second when Billy Grabarkewitz singled, moved up on a wild pitch and scored on a single by Bobby Valentine.

Russell connected for his third home run of the season in the sixth off reliever Ken Reynolds.

Sutton had a two-hitter and a string of 31 scoreless innings until the Phillies scored in the ninth on Tim McCarver's infield hit and Greg Luzinski's double.

Giants Nipped

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry Grote's tie-breaking single with the bases loaded in the bottom of the ninth inning gave the New York Mets a 2-1 victory over the San Francisco Giants Friday night.

Cleon Jones began the winning rally off reliever Jerry Johnson, 1-2, with a one-out walk. He scampered to third on Jim Fregosi's hit-and-run single to left through the vacated shortstop spot.

Ed Kranepool was given an intentional walk to load the bases, setting up Grote's hit through the middle that gave reliever Danny Frisella the victory.

The Mets, unable to reach San Francisco starter Steve Stone through the first seven innings, finally tied it at 1-1 with a run in the eighth on Ken Boswell's two-out double to left.

Pinch-hitter John Milner walked with one out and went to second on Bud Harrelson's topped grounder before racing home on Boswell's belt.

Before New York rallied, Stone was working on a five-hit shutout. Chris Speier had given the right-hander a 1-0 lead with a home run in the sixth inning.

Leron Lee Clobbers

MONTREAL (AP) — Leron Lee blasted a three-run homer off Carl Morton in the fifth inning and the San Diego Padres went on to defeat the Montreal Expos 5-3 Friday night.

Morton, 1-2, breezed through the first three innings until he faced Lee to lead off the fourth. Lee singled and later scored San Diego's first run on a single by John Jeter. Dave Campbell also delivered a fourth-inning run with a single.

Montreal got a run back in the bottom of the fourth when Ken Singleton singled, moved to second on an infield out and scored on Boots Day's single.

But Morton ran into control problems in the top of the fifth, issuing successive walks to Derrel Thomas and Enzo Hernandez before Lee hit his home run.

Yaz Injured Here

Boston's Carl Yastrzemski is injured as he slides into the plate in Wednesday night's game with the California Angels. It's Yastrzemski's right knee that sustains the injury. Angel catcher Art Kusyner makes the tag on Yaz' shoulder, but the ball is on its way to the backstop.

Buccos Stage Rally

HOUSTON (AP) — Milt May's tie-breaking single triggered a two-run ninth inning that carried the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4-2 victory over the Houston Astros Friday night.

Manny Sanguillen's single opened the decisive rally off Houston starter Larry Dierker, 2-2.

He moved to second as Bob Robertson walked and took third on a wild pitch. May then broke the 2-2 deadlock with his single to right that sent Robertson to third and knocked Dierker out of the game.

Reliever Jim Ray then permitted the second run with another wild pitch. Steve Blass, 3-1, got the victory.

Lee May scored from second base on an error by shortstop Gene Alley and hit his sixth home run of the season to give the Astros a 2-0 lead.

May doubled in the second inning and scored when Tommy Helms hit through Alley. Then he led off the fourth with a towering homer over the left field fence.

Pittsburgh's Richie Hebner clubbed a lead-off homer in the top of the seventh to stretch his hitting streak to 15 games and end Dierker's shutout string at 15 innings.

Sanguillen followed Hebner with a single and later scored the tying run on pinch-hitter Vic Davalillo's sacrifice fly.

Hands Fires

ATLANTA (AP) — Bill Hands fired a five-hitter as the Chicago Cubs whipped the Atlanta Braves 2-0 Friday night.

Hands, 2-1, retired 11 Braves in order during one stretch and didn't allow any runners past second base. He fanned three and walked one.

The Cubs scored in the second inning when Rick Monday doubled down the left field line and scored on Jose Cardenal's single. It was Cardenal's eighth RBI in four games against Atlanta this year.

Randy Hundley singled in the Cub third, reached second in Hands' sacrifice and scored when Glenn Beckert laced a double into the right field corner.

Grimsley, Morgan Make Redbirds Take Bow, 5-4

CINCINNATI (AP) — Joe Morgan cracked a two-run homer that carried Cincinnati to a 5-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Friday night, snapping the Reds' four-game losing spin.

Ross Grimsley, making his first start since being recalled from the minors, went seven innings for the victory, only the second Cincinnati starter to notch a win this season.

Morgan's homer off Reggie Cleveland, 3-1, his fourth, followed Pete Rose's two-out single in the fourth and snapped a 3-3 tie.

The Cards took a 2-0 lead in the first on singles by Ted Sizemore, Luis Melendez and Joe Torre and Ted Simmons' double.

But the Reds struck back for three in the bottom of the inning on Morgan's double, an error by Donn Clendenon on Bobby Tolan's grounder, Tony Perez' two-run double and Johnny Bench's single.

St. Louis tied it in the fourth on Clendenon's first homer and added its final run in the eighth on Clendenon's single, an infield out and Matty Alou's single.

Melton, Allen Supply Punch For White Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Home runs by Bill Melton and Dick Allen and timely relief pitching by Steve Kealey carried the Chicago White Sox to a 4-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Friday night.

Chicago's knuckleballing starter Wilbur Wood, 5-2, had the Orioles shut out on two hits before the White Sox fielding collapsed, giving Baltimore two of its three runs in the final two innings.

Kealey came on in the ninth and, after the Orioles scored their final run on shortstop Rich Morales' miscue, struck out pinch-hitter Terry Crowley and got Merv Rettenmund on a game-ending grounder.

Melton, last year's American League home run champion, slugged his first of the season in the second inning to put Chicago ahead to stay.

Allen blasted his fifth of the year in the fourth inning to make it 3-0 after Carlos May had singled with one out.

Mike Cuellar, a 20-game winner for the Orioles in each of the last three season, was knocked out of the box in the fifth inning and was tagged with his third loss against one triumph.

Morales opened the fifth with a single, advanced to second on a sacrifice by Wood and scored on a single by Pat Kelly.

Hooton Invents Knuckle Curve

Burt Hooton of the Chicago Cubs throws a knuckle curve ball as though he invented it. Turns out he did.

"I began fooling around with it in high school," replied the blonde, right-handed native of Greenville, Tex., when asked how he got his freak pitch.

The poise of this pitcher who compiled a 35-3 record at the University of Texas is just as amazing in the locker room as it is on the field. His timing is perfect in both places. He not only knows how to pitch but how to wait for the next question.

Hooton had pitched a winning game against the Mets, striking out nine in seven innings and allowing six hits. But Tom Seaver, also fanning nine and allowing only four singles, had outpitched him this day to make amends for the last time the two pitchers met. On that occasion Hooton turned in a two-hitter and a 3-0 victory.

So now, with his no-hitter against the Phillies April 16 and that 3-0 Met win of last September, Hooton had a string of scoreless innings going for him.

The hitless string was snapped in the first inning when Bud Harrelson blooped a double over Billy Williams' head in left field. Another pitcher might have kicked the rubber because the ball was catchable. But Hooton, with the bases loaded, had Cleon Jones looking at a called third strike. The young phenom was to get four more such called third strikes, each with his darting knuckle curve.

Reminded that he had walked only three batters, two of them intentionally, Hooton said: "Maybe I ought to walk more like the other day." In his no-hitter he had walked seven. Asked how his pitches were working, Hooton replied: "I had better stuff today," making certain he would not boast about his no-hitter.

"Wait until he gets better," Berg was told.

Heard Ties NIT Leader

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Jerry Heard fired a four-under-par 66 and tied Dave Stockton for the second-round lead Friday in the $125,000 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament.

Stockton, a former PGA champion, on the tough Colonial Country Club course and matched Heard's five-under-par total of 135.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers reaped another reward from the National Basketball Association season Saturday when he was named to the All-Star team. But teammate Wilt Chamberlain was relegated to a second-term berth.

Chamberlain was beaten out of a first team spot by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of Milwaukee.

Rounding out the first team were John Havlicek of Boston and Spencer Haywood of Seattle at the forward spots and Walt Frazier of New York at guard with West.

Fans Impatiently Wait Bench To Regain Form

CINCINNATI (AP) — Johnny Bench, struggling to regain his batting form while Cincinnati Reds' fans are getting impatient, says the solution to his problem is time.

"I know I'm going to hit."

says Bench, the 1970 National League Most Valuable Player who went 1-for-22 at the plate to start this season and entered this weekend's series against St. Louis with a .208 batting average.

"It's my livelihood," he said, huddled on the Reds' dugout bench watching his teammates work out. "It's my life and I can't let something like this bust me out of it."

Bench, at 25 one of this city's most eligible bachelors, hit .293 in 1970 while slamming 45 homers and driving in 148 runs.

He dipped to a .238 average last season, hitting 27 home runs and collecting 61 RBI.

Through 20 games this season, Bench had only 16 hits in 77 at bats. The boos at Riverfront Stadium sometimes have been vicious.

"He's never made one gesture, never made a comment about the fans," said Reds Manager Sparky Anderson.

"It's been awful, but he's never said anything.

"I'm proud of him," Anderson said, "The same people who cheered before are booing. I can't understand the way it's been done, that many people against one person."

Bench says the booing doesn't bother him, but he says it with his jaw set as if trying to convince himself. "Last year it bothered me," he said, "it was something new in my career.

"I know I let it bother me. This year I don't."

Although he had four homers entering the St. Louis series, Bench seldom has hit the ball solidly this season. "There is movement at the plate that shouldn't be there" he said, noting he's repeatedly studied films of his poor hitting performances.

"I've not been patient. The pitchers have to throw it and I have to be selective. But it will come."

Anderson, always an optimist, agrees. "I think he has found out what he's really doing," Anderson said.

Sec. II Meet Today At 10

Judging by the times turned in by Section II thinclads this year, today's tournament meet at Oil City promises close competition in all events.

The contestants are closely bunched, in regard to times and distances, in practically all the events. One of the widest edges goes to Tom Fulton of Meadville in the two mile run. Fulton has been clocked in 9:46 while his nearest rival, Mark Peaster of Cranberry, has run a 10:05.

Titusville will be out to add the meet trophy to its league championship, but will be hard pressed by a number of the other schools, including Warren.

Dragon coach Andy Randas indicated Thursday evening that 48 points might be enough to win, but added that he expects four or five other schools to have as many as 35 or 38 points. Last year Warren finished second behind Corry.

Warren has been seeded first in two relay events - the two mile (Mark Grettenberger, Wayne Babcock, Don Hulings and Dave Fink and the 880 (Bill Post, Tom Bright, Jeff Myer and Jim Stromdahl.)

Tim Gay has been placed first in the 880-yard and mile runs, and Randas said he is looking for record-breaking performances in both. Gay will be pressed mainly in the two events by Mark Ladika of Corry. Gay has run a 2:00 in the 880 and a 4:26 mile, while Ladika's best times are 2:01.9 and 4:28.5.

Oil City could jump out to a lead in the early events, as Fred Szafran is favored in the hurdles and Chuck Bennett has the lowest time in the 100-yard dash.

The dashes should be extremely close, with just five-tenths of a second separating the top eight sprinters in the 100. Warren's Bright has the third best time, 10.4. In the 220, Bright's best is 23.6, right behind the 23.2 of Titusville's Steve Morrical.

Morrical's 51.4 in the 440 makes him look like a sure bet, as his time is over two seconds faster than Warren's Don Hulings, who is seeded second.

Six pole vaulters have cleared 12' this year, led by Jim Bennett of Corry, the defending state champion. Bennett's best vault has been 13-7, four inches better than Rick Motter of Oil City. Warren's Jeff Myers has been successful at 12-7 and Dan Romaniszyn of Titusville has gone 12-6.

Pete Salerno of the Dragons tops the javelin field, but his best fling of 175' is just five feet further than Dave Beichner's of Franklin, seeded fourth.

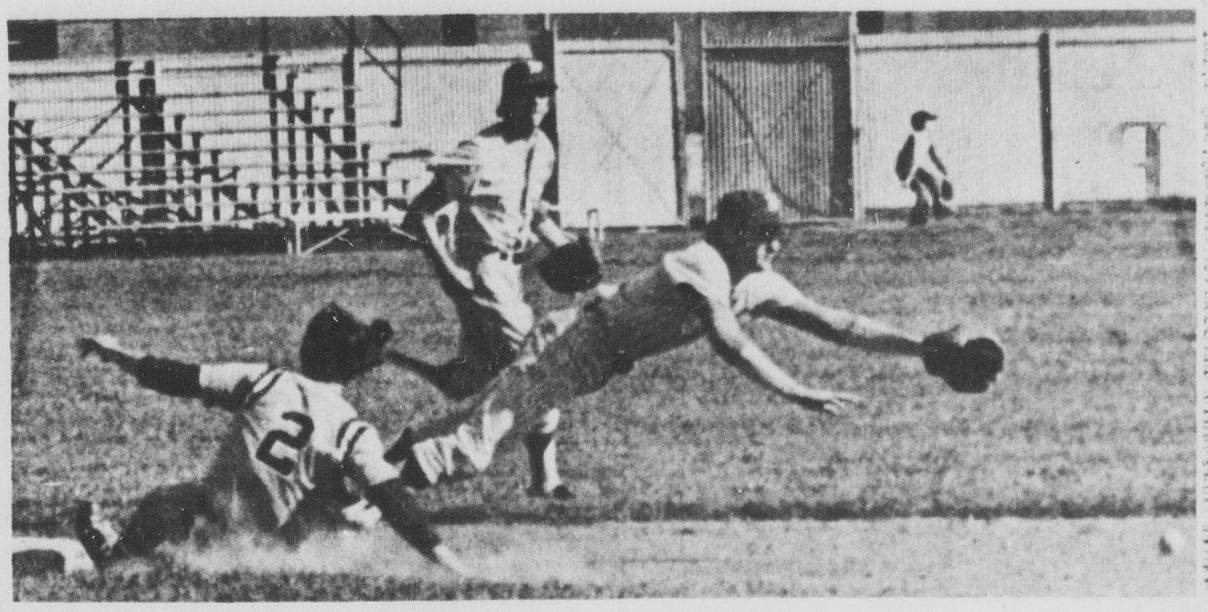

Chances of new records being set in as many as six events appear good, as four have already been bettered and two are close to toppling. The mile standard is 4:30.4, which both Gay and Ladika have bettered.

Gay will also be shooting for the 880-mark of 1:59.3, set in 1969. Warren's two mile relay team has eclipsed the old mark of 8:14.1 by nearly a full second.

Others which may fall are the pole vault, triple jump, discus, 100-yard dash and 880-yard relay.

Points will be awarded to the top five finishers on a 6-4-3-2-1 basis.

Competition will get underway at 10 a.m. with the afternoon session starting at 1:30. Tickets will be sold at the gate for 50 cents and will be valid for both the morning and afternoon sessions.

Stretching For Throw

Warren Dragon second sacker Jeff Passaro dives for the throw from catcher Dan Zdarko on an attempted steal in sixth-inning action yesterday at War Memorial Field. The throw was wide and the unidentified McDowell runner was safe. Backing up the play was Dragon shortstop Mark Scalise. Warren lost its sixth in ten decisions, 5-0.

MOMENTS TO REMEMBER

NEW YORK, May 13 — When Horace Stoneham tossed aside his birthright and uprooted his New York Giants to seek his fortune in the golden West, he left a lot of broken hearts behind him. But he also brought one broken heart to San Francisco with him. It belonged to Willie Mays whose army of worshippers in our village stretched from Wall Street to Harlem and far, far beyond. Willie loved New York and New York loved Willie.

Fourteen years have elapsed since the enforced separation. But if the ardor was suppressed during the interval, it did not diminish. Now there has been a remarriage and Willie has returned as a member of the Mets. He and the fans are overjoyed.

"When you come back to New York," he said jubilantly, "It's like coming back to paradise."

Yet like any remarriage after a lengthy separation, adjustments will have to be made because nothing is exactly the same any more. Most of all, expectations must be lowered to more modest levels. No longer is Willie the vibrant and exciting 27-year-old of unsurpassed skills, the extraordinary ballplayer who could do everything better than anyone else. Now he is an elderly 41 and that's mighty ancient for an athlete. He may be able to show occasional flashes of his past greatness but they will be only occasional and only flashes.

Back in the old days of the New York Giants even the press box tenants had surrendered to the charm of the man they called Willie the Wonder. They made no pretense to be neutral where he was concerned but rooted unashamedly for the effervescent kid who wrapped his whole life around baseball, while letting his natural talents spill forth in awesome abundance. Those were the days when he lit up the skies.

Rich were the memories he left us of his happiest seasons at the Polo Grounds and I feel privileged because I saw so much of Willie during the glory days of his youthful best. Although that montage of memories whirls past with the dazzling spin of a kaleidoscope, I find myself able to reach inside and pluck forth three recollections that must be categorized as the most unforgettable of all.

The first of these goes almost all the way back to the beginning. Willie was still a scared kid of 20 in his first week as a Giant and still without a base hit. But when it came, it was a majestic shot over the Polo Grounds roof off Warren Spahn, then the craftiest pitcher in the league. Its significance has grown over the years because it was the first of his 646 homers, a total second only to that assembled by Babe Ruth.

The next two memories bear the label of impossible. One was the impossible throw and the other the impossible catch. Willie was still a rookie in one Giant- Dodger game and the Brooks had runners on first and third with one out, the score tied and Carl Furillo at bat. Furillo laced a line drive to right center. Maybe it would go for a double.

Apparently certain to score no matter what happened, Billy Cox, the runner on third, played it safe and tagged up. Meanwhile, Willie was streaking over the outfield grass. With a last frantic lunge he collared the ball in his outstreched glove.

Because he was running away from the plate, the proper sequence would have been to stop, reverse his body and make the throw. But that clockwise turn would have consumed too much time and Willie's instincts gave him a better way. He spun around counter-clockwise and launched the throw home as he emerged from his spin, the ball came to Wes Westrum, the catcher, as if shot from a cannon. It didn't bounce in. It came on the fly, a strike. The astonished Cox was out by 10 feet.

"That was the perfectest throw I ever made," said Willie rapturously.

The impossible catch, of course, was the classic one on Vic Wertz of Cleveland in the 1954 World Series. The muscular Vic blasted one over Willie's head in deepest center to the edge of the bleacher wall 460 feet away. Mays turned at the crack of his bat and ran and ran and ran. Presumably he had eyes in the back of his head. There is no other explanation.

Suddenly Willie stuck out his glove in front of him as he ran away from the plate. The ball darted over his shoulder and plunked into the glove. The 'mazing Mays had just made one of the great catches of baseball history. But to purists the best part of this play went relatively unnoticed. A split second after that impossible catch Willie made a prodigious throw back to the infield to keep the base runners from getting any scoring ideas.

The Willie of old was full of such heroics, all beyond the powers of the old Willie of today. But it's still nice to have him back. Welcome home, Willie.

Notes & Quotes

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets optioned outfielder Don Hahn to their Tidewater farm team in the International League Friday.

The Mets said the action was taken to make room on the club's roster for Willie Mays, obtained a day earlier in a trade with the San Francisco Giants.

McQueen, 0-1, has a pulled muscle in his left arm. Upshaw, credited with one save this season, had been bothered by a sore arm.

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP) — Halfback Roy Bell of the University of Oklahoma has signed with the Edmonton Eskimos, the Canadian Football League club announced Friday.

Bell was a ninth-round draft choice of Dallas of the National Football League.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Veteran third baseman Jim Ray Hart was recalled from the minor leagues Friday by the San Francisco Giants.

The move filled the roster vacancy created by the trade of Willie Mays to the New York Mets.

Pitcher Charlie Williams, obtained in the Mays' trade, probably will go to Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League, although the Giants made no decision Friday.

Hart, 30, batted .301 in 26 games with Phoenix this year. He had eight home runs. He played five full seasons with the Giants.

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Friday night 's American League game between the Milwaukee Brewers and Minnesota Twins was tied 3-3 at the end of 15 innings.

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Braves purchased Friday 28-year-old right-handed pitcher Jim Hardin from their Richmond farm club in the International League.

Hardin, a veteran of five seasons in the big leagues, was signed by the Braves as a free agent two weeks ago after being released by the New York Yankees.

He played four seasons with the Baltimore Orioles and one with the Yankees before signing with the Braves.

Hardin had his best season in 1968 with the Orioles when he won 18 games and posted a 2.51 ERA.

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — David "Sonny" Werblin, said Friday there is a chance that a National Basketball Association franchise, possibly the Boston Celtics, will be coming to New Jersey.

Werblin, chairman of the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority, said that he has talked with NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy about the prospects for moving the Celtics to the proposed new sports complex in the Hackensack Meadowlands.

Werblin said there have not been any direct negotiations with Celtics' management.

The Celtics team is the only franchise "floating around," Werblin said. But he added that Kennedy expressed an interest in putting another team, perhaps a new franchise, in New Jersey if the Celtics prove to be unavailable.

Werblin is former owner of the New York Jets' football team.

Kennedy was on vacation and unavailable for comment.

CINCINNATI (AP)—U.S. Senate hearings on merger plans for warring professional basketball leagues are "not an investigation, but an inquisition," says Pepper Wilson, former general manager and vice president of the Cincinnati Royals.

"It's a stacked deck, says Wilson.

Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., chairman of the Senate subcommittee conducting the hearings, "has a closed mind on the subject of the merger," says Wilson.

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays took the first four pitches before he tagged a soft line drive to center field. An outfielder floated toward the ball and stabbed it.

Mays flied to right, fouled one off, singled to right and then hit his first home run. The ball sailed over the 371-foot mark in left-center field at Shea Stadium.

It was only batting practice, but it was Willie Mays' first batting practice Friday night as a New York Met—so it was something special.

"He'll be good, you'll see," said outfielder Dave Marshall, sitting near the batting cage and watching Mays take his cuts. "He's happy. You can see he's happy. This is great for him, being in New York."

McDowell One-Hits Warren

The McDowell Trojans socked it to the Warren Dragons Friday 5-0, to drop the Dragons' record two full games below .500 at 4-6.

Giving up just one hit, the McDowell pitcher fanned 11 in a superb performance of control, speed, and a wide variety of pitches.

The Dragons lone hit came due to the fleetness of John Collins, who tapped a slow bouncer to the Trojan second basemen with two down in the sixth. The ball skidded through the fielder's legs, but Collins was awarded a hit although he was about 15 feet from the base when the fielder got to the ball.

Although Warren has been playing much better with its "gloves and heads," the bats have been rather silent for the past few games, causing Coach Don Smith to "make some changes and get some punch into the line-up."

The Dragons' best threat came in the fifth inning when Dan Zdarko walked and the hustling Mike Menard got on when the catcher missed the third strike.

But the Trojan pitcher hitched up his belt and held the Dragons scoreless.

Outstanding defensive plays for the Dragons were made by third baseman Mark Hahn and left fielder Glenn Belleau. Hahn dove and knocked a hard shot down then pounced on the ball and threw the McDowell runner out. Belleau, who was starting his first varsity game in the outfield, kept a certain triple to a double by making a beautiful recovery on a long shot to left. He then fired a strike to third base, over 250 feet away, to hold the runner.

Warren travels to Olean tomorrow for a doubleheader, in an effort to push its mark to .500.

Stateline Begins Operation Tonight

The roar of the engines, the tension in the crowd and the drop of the green flag will indicate to racing fans in the Pennsylvania and New York State areas that Stateline Speedway has open its gates for another season of weekly thrills and chills on Kortwright rd.

A jam-packed crowd is expected for tonight's opener at 8:30 p.m., although some of the track's most popular drivers—Ron Blackmer, Jay Plyler and "Squirt" Johns probably won't be in the pits.

Nevertheless, when the flag signals the beginning, new heroes and villains will emerge, ready to appease each fan's delight.

Sheffield Spears Spartansburg Team

In analyzing the 5-2 dual meet season Sheffield completed at home Friday afternoon with a 112-37 victory over the Spartansburg Spartans, Coach Joe Giordano said, "I guess this season is comparable to our best season. I'm pleased with the turnout, the fine attitudes and performances of all involved."

Especially lauded for their exploits on the track and in the field were Sheffield's freshmen — Brian Moldovan, Paul Champion, Kevin French, Larry Silvis and Craig Bowley.

Kevin French, who brings a smile to Giordano's face every time he long jumps, broke the 20-foot barrier again yesterday with a leap of 20 feet, 4 inches, two inches short of the school mark. Paul Champion glistened in the sun by placing third in the high hurdles and first, with a time of 24 flat in the lows. Curt Bowley tied teammate Earl Belcher in the mile by breaking the tape in 24 flat for a first.

Other than Shaw winning the 220-and 440-yd. dashes, Spartansburg's first-place quests were staved.

Craig Anderson, like always, was a triple winner. The talented senior notched the javelin and discus events with respective throws of 148-7 and 124 7¼. A leap of 5-11 was good enough for him to win the high jump.

Sheffield will be at the Port Allegany Invitational today with a representation of 19. Time of the meet has been slated for 10:00 a.m. After this meet, Sheffield will vie at the District IX, Class B meet with four of its best performers next Saturday.

Indians Tumble From 1st Place

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ted Ford drilled his third home run of the year and three Cleveland pitchers combined for a seven-hitter as the Texas Rangers downed the Indians 3-1 Friday night, dropping Cleveland out of first place in the American League East.

The defeat, the Indians' third in 10 games, ended their four-game winning streak and left them percentage points back of rained-out Detroit.

Ford's homer, a leadoff shot over the left field wall in the second inning, proved to be the winning run after the Rangers had taken a 1-0 lead in the first on singles by Elliott Maddox and Dave Nelson and Don Mincher's run-scoring grounder.

Cleveland cut the margin to 2-1 in the sixth as John Brohamer tripled and came home on Graig Nettles' infield out. But Texas added an insurance run in the eighth as Nelson tripled and pinch-hitter Dick Billings singled.

Dick Bosman, with relief help from Mike Paul and Horacio Pina, picked up his second victory in six decisions, giving up all seven Cleveland hits

Fishing Report

Tionesta Creek continues to be the "hot one" in Forest County as good trout catches are being reported on salmon eggs and minnows. Joseph Kopena, waterways patrolman, reports that a "high" Allegheny River is hurting the muskie and walleye fishing but that good catches are being made on the Tionesta Reservoir and at the outflow. Bill Smith of Clarion pulled in two muskies recently at the outflow, 43¾ in. and 33 in. The larger one weighed 22 lbs. Chubs and suckers are the best bait. Blue Jay Creek and Salmon Creek were stocked Friday; Spring Creek will be stocked May 18 and Tionesta Creek on May 19.

●

Fishermen looking for hot spots this weekend can find two of the best at Chapman Dam and Brokenstraw Creek where the brown trouts are reported aplenty.

Minnows and Salmon eggs are the best bait to use if fishing in those areas.

Kinzua Dam tail race has claimed many muskie and brown trout lately as many 30-to 40-inch muskies have been caught while the brown trout have been in the 17-to 27-inch class.

The mouth of the Conewango Creek sports some walleye and suckers.

Overall, the larger streams are high and cloudy with a good chance of receding by this weekend. All the streams have a reported good stocking of brown trout.

●

Flies and lures have not been too successful, according to Williams, and has received no report of muskie or walleye catches.

Fifteen to 20-inch trout catches have been reported on the Allegheny River and Potato Creek.

Kinzua Creek and the South Branch will be stocked on May 16 with 2100 and 2000 brown trout, respectively. Meet at the junction of 219 and 6 at noon.

IN MEMORIAM TO MOTHER

In loving memory of our dear Mother, MILDRED M. MILLER who passed away October 2, 1971.
Today recalls sad memories,
Of a dear Mother gone to rest,
And the ones who think of her today,
Are the ones who loved her best.
Sadly missed by Blaine & family
Linda & family

In loving memory of MINNIE BOSTON, who passed away July 30, 1971.
Whatever is good and true in my thoughts,
Whatever is beautiful and joyful in my spirit,
Whatever is courageous in my actions,
Whatever is faithful and understanding in my heart-
Are gifts from my wonderful mother.
Sadly missed by
All her loved ones

In loving memory of our dear Mother, EDITH OLSON who passed away October 7th, 1967.
When a mother breathes her last farewell,
The stroke means more than tongue can tell,
The world seems quite another place,
Without the smile of Mother's face,
And while she lies in peaceful sleep,
Her memory we shall always keep.
Sadly missed by Her Daughters

In loving memory of EMMA HARTLEY ENOS who passed away July 25, 1964.
The rolling stream of life rolls on,
But still the vacant chair,
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile,
Of the one who once sat there.
Missed by Your children

In loving memory of KATHERINE WEIDNER, who passed away February 17, 1970.
Though life sometimes grows hectic
Like a wild and stormy sea,
I do not fear because I have
My mother's legacy.
Sadly missed by

In loving memory of my Mother, SHARON JONES who passed away July 29, 1971.
Sadly missed by her Son, Lorian Jones, Jr.

In loving memory of MARTHA BAKER who passed away December 15, 1969.
To know her was to love her
Both family and friend
And the sweetness of her memory Time can neither dim nor end.
Sadly missed by Husband & children

In loving memory of GEORGIA GREEN who passed away November 20, 1965.
Ever loving, ever true,
To the task God set for you;
Mother dear, He knew 'twas done,
So called you home, our dearest one.
Sadly missed by Children

In loving memory of ELEANOR S. McGUIRE who passed away August 24, 1967.
We do not forget you, nor do we intend,
We think of you often, and will to the end;
Gone and forgotten by some you may be,
But dear to our memory you ever will be.

What Is A Mother?

A mother is a bit of all the things in the world, she is a beautiful queen washing and cooking for her family, to her children no one is quite as wonderful as their mother.

Mothers come in various sizes and shapes, though each one is just the right size to hold her child in her arms and comfort away their problems. Mothers may spend hours looking through household items to find a missing shoe, many mothers appreciate good report cards, a kiss good night at bedtime, those beautiful posters brought home from school during Valentine week, and being good about finishing their dinner, or any other special surprises brought home from a weekend trip.

Mothers usually feel quite lost when their children stay away for a night, sometimes mothers do not understand various sports or hobbies their children enjoy during their growing years.

All mothers pamper their children, making sure their hair is just right, clothes are clean, pressed, and that they do not leave the house on a rainy day without raincoat and galoshes.

And yet, they would not trade her for anyone else in the world, for no one can warm their hearts as much as their mother, and no one can say "I love you" the same way.

A mother is all of these things and much more. She is living love to each of her children. For on mother's day, they will say that we are the luckiest ones today, for she is our mom.

Happy Mother's Day to all mothers!

Market's Advance Not Spectacular

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, as in two previous sessions, slowly ground out some broad gains Friday, but there was nothing spectacular about the market's performance.

At the close, advancing issues held an advantage of 1,006 to 433 over the losers.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 7.0 to 941.83, which was a touch above last Friday's close at 941.23.

At 14 million shares, volume on the Big Board was not much ahead of Thursday's 12.9 million.

Steel issues, electronics, airlines and most of the chemical issues were among the groups that showed gains, along with a good many of the glamour items.

Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks was up .61 to 106.38.

The NYSE index of more than 1,300 common stocks closed at 59.19, up .39.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was ahead 1.4 to 330.2.

At the American Stock Exchange the price change index was up .16 to 27.48.

In Over-the-Counter trading, the NASDAQ composite index closed at 129.44, up 1.49.

The biggest block on the NYSE was 149,900 shares of Atlantic Richfield, at 63, and the stock closed at the same figure, down 1¼. It was the most-active issue on the NYSE. Thursday it had gained 1½ points as the Interior Department gave right-of-way clearance to the proposed Alaskan pipeline.

At the American Stock Exchange Banister Continental, an Alaska-oriented company, was the volume leader on 75,000 shares, off ⅛ to 25⅝. Alaska Airline was second most active on 67,600 shares, up ⅝ to 9½.

Total blocks on the NYSE were 113, compared with 105 Thursday.

On the Big Board there were 51 new yearly lows, and only 33 new yearly highs among the 1,749 issues traded.

On the American Stock Exchange volume was 3.91 million shares, compared with 3.14 million Thursday. The advances virtually doubled the declines, 603 to 303, among the 1,192 issues traded.

Closing prices for active issues on the NYSE included Texaco, up ¼ to 30½; Mattel, Inc., up 2 to 23⅞; American Telephone, ahead ⅛ at 42½; Gulf Oil, up ½ to 24¾; and International Nickel, off ¼ to 30¾.

At the American Stock Exchange closing, prices of the more active issues included Kaiser Industries, up ⅛ to 7⅛; Allegheny Airlines, ahead ⅜ to 21⅛; National General warrants, up ⅛ to 7; Syntex, up ⅛ to 86⅛; and Teleprompter, ahead ½ at 35⅛.

On the bond market, governments were higher and corporates showed only minor changes.

Revenue Sharing Would Help Warren County

Federal revenue sharing, if or when it is approved by Congress, will pour a half million dollars into Warren County according to information released recently by the Pennsylvania League of Cities.

Almost half will go to the county seat — approximately $223,956. A total of $173,780 is tagged for Warren Borough and $103,527 will be split among the county's 21 townships.

"The county can always use a quarter-million dollars," said Dr. David K. Rice, chairman of the County Commissioners, recently.

He expressed concern, however, that the revenue sharing cash might simply replace federal funds currently coming into Warren County.

Approximately a quarter million dollars of federal funds is already being spent in the county each year when the total expenditures of Child Welfare, OEO Experience, Inc. and other organizations are combined.

In the future the Warren County Housing Authority and the county's Solid Waste Authority will also be in line for federal monies, Rice said.

If these funds are discontinued due to the adoption of a revenue sharing plan Rice said he could see little advantage in the proposal.

He said he'd favor the sharing program "if there are no strings attached."

He later reconsidered his statement and said he could probably put up with a few strings to get such a large sum of money. Commissioner James G. Marshall agreed.

Several months ago the commissioners were told they would receive approximately $50,000 through revenue sharing. Rice said the new figure is "considerably more than we anticipated."

Unlike Warren County, Warren Borough does not now receive federal money. The share earmarked for the borough would be equal to approximately five mills of real estate tax — or approximately one-sixth of the annual budget.

The federal money, if received, could precipitate a tax cut. Frank Strange, borough manager, said Friday, however, that he'd like to see some of the money poured into capital improvements.

"We could get a good start on a central fire station with that kind of money," he said. The new fire station is one of the most crucial needs the borough has, according to most experts.

Forest County, according to the League of Cities breakdown, would be in line for close to $60,000.

Hospital Assn. Raps Welfare Funds Cutoff

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Hospital Association of Pennsylvania criticized the Welfare Department Friday for its decision to cut off medical assistance payments until the legislature approves its $54 million deficiency appropriation.

Carl I. Bergkvist, president of the association, said that "nonprofit hospitals are not geared to absorb the millions of dollars represented by the retroactive denial of payments.

"Even more critical," he went on, "they cannot continue to survive under the financial burden of providing free care to medical assistance patients."

Welfare Secretary Helene Wohlgemuth announced Wednesday that in order to conserve funds for cash grants to welfare recipients, the department was cutting off reimbursement to hospitals, doctors, pharmacists and others who provide medical assistance to the poor while depending on the state to pay them for it.

The action followed a 112-78 vote in the House against the $54 million deficiency appropriation, which the department says is needed to make ends meet in the current fiscal year.

Without the appropriation, Mrs. Wohlgemuth said, the department will run completely out of money on May 19.

The House is expected to take a second vote on the appropriation after it reconvenes next week, but in the meantime, according to Bergkvist, the Welfare Department is punishing hospitals unfairly.

"Hospitals were the first to be cut," Bergkvist said, "and yet they are morally committed to continue providing treatment for the many patients who are dependent upon medical assistance.

"The Commonwealth also has a commitment to these patients, a financial one, and we are asking the legislature to find the funds to fulfill it."

Police Ending Course In Law

Continuing education in their particular field is evidenced by a number of individuals concerned with law enforcement.

Graduation day is May 17 for members of the Warren County Sheriff's Department, Conewango Twonship Police and State Police at the Warren substation, who have been attending weekly classes each Wednesday since Jan. 27.

Instructed in Criminal Law II by former Assistant District Attorney John Eberly at Warren Area High School are the following: Sheriff D.E. Allen Jr., Deputies Douglas Irvine, Dennis Brown, John Glady, William Schmader, Martha Bierly and Konky Tridico.

Also attending are Conewango Township Chief James Tridico, Lt. Richard Hegerty and Officer Larry Kopko. State police students are Troopers Harry W. Jabo, Myron Fernstrom, James O. Hawk and Cpl. Paul W. Brown.

Sheriff Allen recently completed a three-week course in Criminology at Mercyhurst College and Deputy Dennis Brown is currently pursuing the same course of study there.

Federal Gov't. Seeks Money Back From Some States

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government today ordered Illinois to repay $3.9 million allegedly misspent for salaries and equipment unrelated to compensatory education of poor children.

The sum represents nearly half the $9.1 million sought to date from Washington, D.C. and nine states including Pennsylvania. The U.S. Office of Education said a similar letter has been sent to Iowa but the amount of repayment requested from that state has not been disclosed.

At least a dozen more states will receive repayment demands this spring, alleging they misspent money under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act which has funneled $8.7 billion since 1966 to improve basic skills of educationally deprived youngsters.

In each case, the government said, the expenditures were not related to Title I activities and many of the costs would have been borne by the state or local school districts anyway.

Amounts requested earlier are: Montana, $19,057; Arizona, $762,023; Minnesota, $311,107; California, $1.1 million; Pennsylvania, $355,479; Michigan, $928,640; Washington, $189,628; Wisconsin, $33,336, and the District of Columbia, $1.5 million.

Shoplifting Stories

By Betty Rice

Incidents of shoplifting continue to plague area merchants and police regardless of the amount involved. But only recently did we learn a fact of life about this particular crime. When a culprit is caught with the goods he is obliged to pay the amount involved. The merchandise is held by the store where the shoplifting occurred and the individual, after making restitution and paying fine and costs, has the option of picking up the article or articles which he shoplifted or leaving it. One would think, however, that any pleasure which might have been derived from ownership of stolen goods would somewhat diminish.

And there's another facet to the shoplifting picture—sometimes the person accused has merely made an honest mistake. It is here that the astute police officer can, and often does, convince management that the situation does not warrant an arrest.

Take this hypothetical case, for example. A professional man takes his small son shopping and one item on the list is a pair of boots for the youngster. Like most youngsters, once the selection is made, he wants to put the boots on immediately. So—on go the boots and the shoes he's wearing are placed in the shopping cart along with several hundred dollars worth of merchandise.

The customer pays for all of the latter but forgets about the newly shod child. Management stops him outside the store and calls police. Fortunately, the officer is able to convince the manager not to press charges. Whether the man ever returns there to do more shopping is not known. But this, most certainly, would constitute an honest error and not a deliberate attempt to shoplift.

Or, take the young lady who went shopping for a small item and carried only a small coin purse in her coat pocket. Stepping up to the checkout line with item in hand, she reaches into the pocket for the purse and is immediately asked to reveal what's in her coat pocket—the inference being that she had shoplifted something. One can well imagine the embarrassment suffered by the shopper.

There have been other incidents where appearances were completely deceiving, but this information does not become public property—rumors fly and a stigma remains.

Most of the incidents are bona fide cases and should in no way be condoned. Nevertheless, on occasions, there are two sides to the coin.

Priests, Laymen To Have Say In Bishop-Choosing

(c) N. Y. Times Service

ROME — Pope Paul VI in a document published Friday gave national and regional hierarchies a stronger voice in the selection of new bishops than they have had so far.

Priests and — for the first time in modern church history — handpicked laymen were also assigned parts in the secret process leading to the nomination of candidates for the episcopal office.

However, Friday's norms made it plain that the final decision on the appointment of new bishops rested always with the Apostolic See, meaning the Pope and the central administrative body of the Roman Catholic Church, known as the Roman Curia.

A statement accompanying the new rules said that Pope Paul was enacting them to carry out recommendations by the Second Vatican Council (1962-65), and in compliance with "the wishes of many of his brothers in the episcopate."

Liberal ecclesiastics here commented that Friday's reform fell far short of the expectations of Roman Catholics who wanted democratization of the church through election of bishops by the priests and laity of their dioceses.

An authoritative spokesman for the Vatican, the Rev. Roberto Tucci, described the new rules today as a "significant progress" in achieving the collegial mission of the hierarchy in the choice of bishops.

"These lists however," a provision stated, "do not detract from the liberty of the Roman Pontiff, who in virtue of his office is always free to choose and appoint men who do not appear on the lists."

This clearly meant that the Pope may disregard and override nominations by local hierarchies in filling vacant episcopal sees.

Hex Slayer' Dies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The principal defendant in the famous York County "hex" slaying case of 1928 has died at age 76, his status as a lonely recluse far different from the national notoriety which surrounded his trial in 1929.

John H. Blymyer, a "powwow doctor" whose confession included a claim that he killed a farmer because his victim had him "bewitched," was found Wednesday by a neighbor in the house where he lived here. His son, Thomas I. Blymyer of York, identified the body Thursday.

The Medical Examiner's office said Blymyer died a natural death. The murder trial in York, a town of Pennsylvania Dutch country, attracted national attention in newspapers in 1929. Author Arthur H. Lewis wrote a book about the case, which was published in 1969 under the title "Hex."

Convicted along with Blymyer for the murder of 60-year-old farmer Nelson D. Rehmeyer were Wilbert G. Hess, 17 at the time, and John Curry, who was 14 at the time.

Rehmeyer was beaten to death by the three in his farm house the night of Nov. 27, 1928.

Blymyer said he killed the farmer to get a lock of hair which another "powwow" practitioner had told him should be buried in order to lift the spell the farmer had cast over him.

Gov. John S. Fine commuted Blymyer's life sentence in 1953, and Blymyer worked as a night watchman in an apartment house here until he retired in 1965. Curry and Hess were paroled in 1939. Curry has since died, but Hess is still living in York.

Injuries Increase

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — More Pennsylvanians were injured on the job in March than any month since June, 1970, the Labor and Industry Department said Friday.

There were 9,117 work-related injuries in March, including 55 fatalities. In June, 1970, there were 9,167 injuries, 61 fatalities.

For the first quarter of this year, there were 24,807 work-related injuries, exceeding those for the same period last year by 1,960.

"These statistics indicate that there has been little if any sustained progress in bringing about safer working conditions," Labor and Industry Secretary Paul Smith said.

His Job OK, But Deaths Bother Pilot

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — John Patrick O'Gorman is one of the men President Nixon has called on to stop the North Vietnamese move into South Vietnam. O'Gorman pilots a U.S. fighter-bomber.

"Without the Air Force the North Vietnamese would have walked to Saigon," he says. At the same time, Lt. Col. O'Gorman admits that air power alone cannot win the war: "Sometime, someplace, the South Vietnamese are going to have to meet the North Vietnamese on the ground and fight it out. We can't do everything."

At 43, O'Gorman has logged about 300 combat hours in his F4 since November. He also serves as commander of a tactical fighter squadron at the Da Nang air base.

He loves both jobs, but he adds:

"I don't always enjoy the results of the work—the death of any man diminishes us all."

Working with younger pilots, O'Gorman says, is a pleasure and a challenge. "Technically they're just beautiful but it's a job to instill spirit in them ... The type of spirit I learned from World War II pilots and Korea. My biggest job is to try and hand down some of that spirit I learned."

O'Gorman is the father of seven children.

"When I was stationed at Bien Hoa during my first tour here in 1965, there must have been 27 Catholic parishes on the Bien Hoa to Saigon road, with people who had come from the North. Those people came here for a reason. They didn't want to live under communism.

"We owe them much consideration before we leave them."

O'Gorman also believes the United States has an implied promise to these people. "How can the United States sit at a conference table if we just leave? How could anyone trust such a nation?"

Napalm, O'Gorman says, is an effective weapon: "It's terrorizing but not torturous. Perhaps all killing is immoral to an extent. But is one method more immoral than another?"

O'Gorman says he spends little time thinking about being captured. "I've thought about it and I've reached a conclusion to satisfy myself. Whenever the thought crops up, I avoid it. I dismiss it.

"The golden B.B.—the shot that goes through the canopy—can happen to you any time but it's senseless to think about it all the time. It can become an obsession. Discipline will carry me through."

The word "discipline" runs through O'Gorman's conversation. He jokingly comments this may be the result of "a normal Irish-Catholic boyhood" in St. Louis, Mo. He took a premedical course for a year at St. Louis University before joining the Air Force in 1952. "I suppose I joined because of all the notoriety and publicity of World War II," he says. "And I like it. There's a certain amount of order ... discipline ... loyalty and courage that gives you satisfaction."

Jury Awards Woman $5,000

CLEARFIELD — A Clearfield County civil jury Wednesday afternoon awarded a DuBois woman over $5,000 for medical bills and lost wages in her suit against the City of DuBois.

Sue L. Snedden was suing the City of DuBois for damages resulting from injuries received when her auto hit a raised manhole cover on DuBois st. four years ago.

The jury awarded Mrs. Snedden $5,857.55 for medical bills and lost wages, returning its verdict Wednesday afternoon.

What do you do when you find a live hand grenade in your back yard?

The Harry Webster family of RD 1, Union City found a genuine hand grenade on the vacant lot next to their house.

They immediately called the fire department.

Firemen suggested they call the police.

The desk man at the Union City police station fidgeted a bit and suggested they contact the National Guard in Erie.

The guard people called the Ravenna Arsenal in Ohio, but they said they couldn't see going that far to dismantle one little grenade.

In frustration the Webster family called the state police in Corry. A trooper came to the house and carried the grenade to the armory in Corry where a local guardsman disarmed the tiny bomb.

The guardsman is now using the grenade as a paperweight in his own home.

Tidioute Schedules Annual Clean-Up Day

Mayor Karns

By LENORE McINTYRE

The annual borough clean-up day for Tidioute will be held on Saturday, May 20, according to a proclamation issued by Mayor William Karns and supported by borough council.

Traditionally, the day set aside to tidy up the borough is always prior to Memorial Day for this is the one time of the year when Tidioute has many native visitors. They return to visit their former homes, to care for family cemetery plots, and to attend Memorial Day services. It is the one day they can be sure to meet old friends and acquaintances whom they haven't seen for years, or maybe just since last Memorial Day.

While there is much activity in the two cemeteries, mowing, weeding and trimming, borough streets also get their spring cleaning. The maintenance crew scrapes and sweeps the remains of winter debris, then the fire company takes over and hoses down the pavements until they are spic and span.

Meanwhile, property owners are tidying up, too. Garages, basements and lawns yield up a year's accumulation of junk, trash and rubbish of all description. On this one day of the year, the borough hauls it away free of charge.

So, on Saturday, May 20, all residents of Tidioute borough should have their trash piled neatly near the curb by 12 o'clock noon. This does not include garbage which will have been picked up by the collector prior to Saturday noon.

Taking Lessons

Tourney To Help Ambulance Drive

A 22-year-old professional golfer who is presently 11th on the PGA money list and a 22-year-old amateur linkster who was runner-up in the British Amateur last year will be featured in the First Annual Robert Witherup Memorial Golf Tournament to benefit the Community Ambulance Service in Franklin and Oil City, Pennsylvania on Monday, June 26, at Wanango Country Club, Reno, Pennsylvania.

Lanny Wadkins, a rookie on the pro tour, who has won several amateur golf tourneys, including the U.S. Amateur and Jim Simons, of Butler, Pennsylvania, who finished fourth in the U.S. Open last year, will be participating in the benefit golf tournament.

The 18-hole one day tournament will be a best ball team event, open to the first 72 golfers to register. The entry fee for golfers is $25, which will include lunch. All of the golfer's names will be thrown into a barrel and teams will be picked by lottery a week before the tourney. Trophies will be awarded to the winning team and the runnerup, and also the tourney medalist.

A noon luncheon will kick off the event and both the featured golfers will speak at the luncheon. Immediately following lunch, both golfers will conduct a half-hour exhibition beginning at 1 P.M. The 18-hole tourney will commence at 1:30 P.M.

A dinner dance, open to the public, will wind up the day's activities at Wanango.

A hole-in-one contest, open to golfers in the tournament and the public will be conducted all day long in the practice area at Wanango. The person closest to the pin at the end of the day will be awarded a new set of top brand golf clubs.

County's Oldest Course To Undergo Expansion

By DAVID PIRILLO

You're not getting older Conewango Valley Country Club, just better. Those words . were taken from a popular television commercial and altered a bit, but nonetheless descriptively explain the idea behind the expansion program that is currently underway on Warren County's oldest existing golf course.

Not since the Crary family helped to found the private club in the World War I era has there been such an extensive alteration conducted.

Phase one of the program is the installation of two regulation-size tennis courts. In the near future, a turf-stripping process will begin on the courts. The contractor, Humphries-Hansen Inc. of Jackson, Michigan, will supervise the laying of a gravel and asphalt base with a rubber and composition surface.

Phase two, if weather permits, should begin anytime. Leo Wurst, contractor for an additional nine holes at the club, is currently finishing the second nine holes at Corry's municipal course and is eager to utilize his earthmovers on Conewango Valley soil. Completion of the back nine is, hopefully, possible by early 1973.

President Bob Walsh recently announced that the club has obtained the services of Duane Lucas as the new grounds superintendent. Lucas, a native of Greensburg, Pa., comes to Conewango Valley from the Indian Run Resort, near Reels, Pa., where he served as assistant superintendent for two courses — the Executive and the Palmer (designed by Arnie).

Previously, he had been employed by the Greensburg Country Club, Greensburg, Pa.; La Grange Country Club, La Grange, Ill.; and Little Creek Golf Course, Stoystown, Pa., where he was superintendent.

Graduated from the Pennsylvania State University's two-year course in turf management, he worked for one year on the maintenance crew on the university's course under the direction of Frank Sirianni, a Warren native, who now supervises the care of the two Penn State golf courses and Beaver Field — where the Nittany Lions play football.

Lucas will be assisted by Phil Nuhfer, veteran maintenance member of the CVCC staff, and it is hoped that before the season is over they will assume the responsibility for the additional nine holes.

Another new face will frequently be seen throughout the summer, and it belongs to John Kleimer, the 27-year-old instructional pro. Kleimer comes to CVCC in the departure of Jack and Delia Johnson, who leave behind a big set of shoes to fill.

As of yet, the aggressive, handsome tutor hasn't had any major problems. Arriving in the Warren area in early spring, Kleimer has taken it upon himself to completely refurbish the golf shop at an expense of $5000.

With the weather in uncooperative stages in recent weeks, Kleimer hasn't been able to work with the club's membership to any great extent.

Does Kleimer like the club and its membership so far? "Yes, I do," he replied. "I find the people here eager to learn and friendly." He noted that the club was no Indian Wells (an exclusive club where he once was), but it was more than adequate.

Kleimer has already supervised two early-season tournaments and the opening of the men's and women's seasons. Four dates have been underlined on the club's calendar. The first is on the 17th of next month — the Husband and Wife, Member-Guest. A new idea for CVCC — a steeple chase — will take place around the 4th of July.

The year's biggest event on the links — the Member-Guest — is slated for the weekend of July 14 and 15. Finally, the season will taper off with the club championship semifinals and finals on Labor Day weekend — Sept. 2, 3, 4.

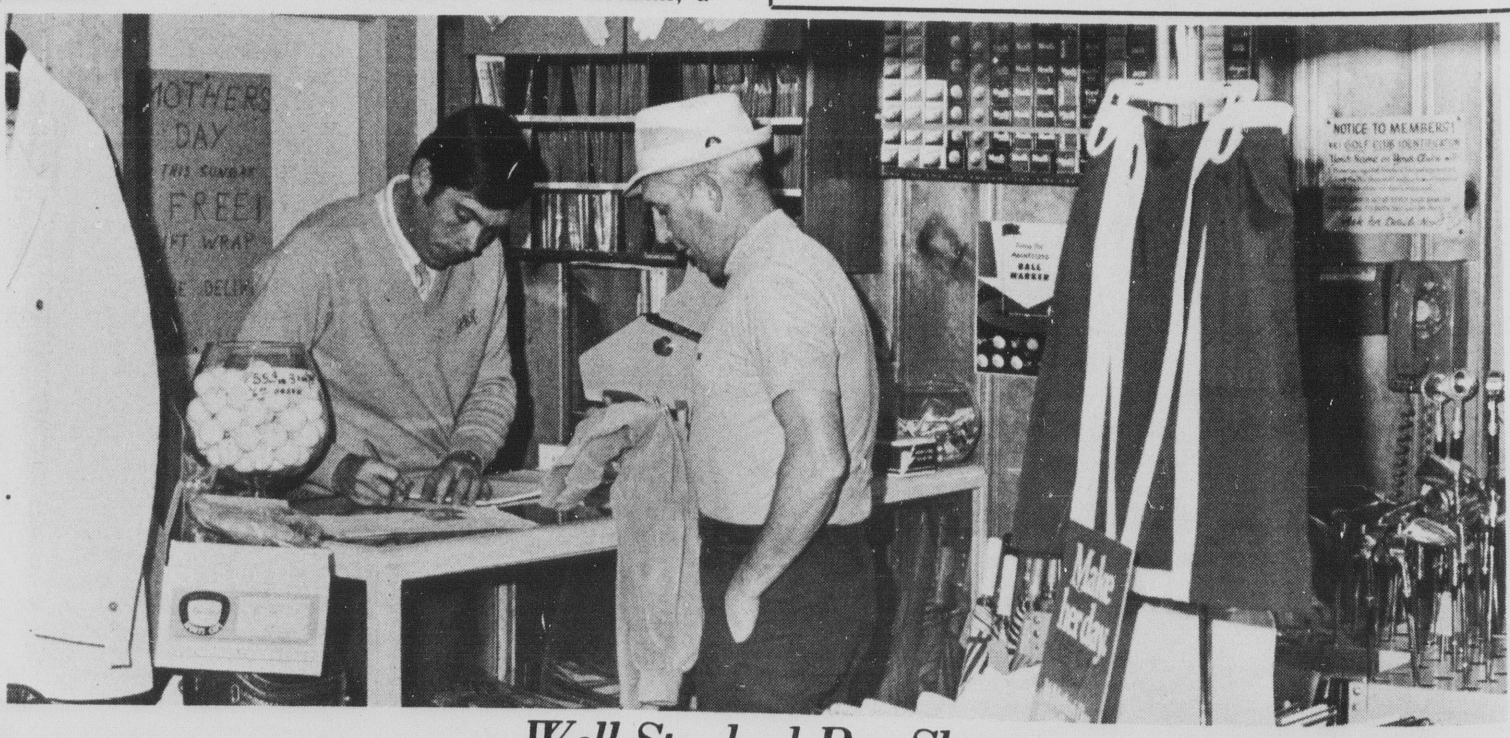

Mary Conarro, the perennial women's club champion, will put her title on the line at that time. Only during her pregnancies has she not been able to defend her crown. Chuck Schmidt, the 1971 champion, has more in the way of competition. He should get constant pressure from such stalwarts as Ross Fischer, Matt Voigt, Pete Juliano and Rocky Logan, all with less than a five handicap.

Conewango Valley's front nine holes lay over 3169, well-manicured yards and require a 35 for par. The back nine, when completed, will cover 3114 yards and, too, will be a par 35. Those figures are for the men. The women's distances on the first nine total 2807 yards and demand a 37 for par. The additional nine will be exactly the same.

According to Walsh, the club's growing membership is approximately 460.

On The Cover

Someone once said, "Golf is a game where the ball lies bad and the golfer good." Whether it is true or not is inconsequential, but the fact remains that golf continues to increase in popularity by leaps and bounds every year. Warren County finds itself in the ideal situation - one private club and three public courses within its boundaries and, more in easy driving distance. Sports Editor David Pirillo and Tom Schultz examine the local courses from tee to green, and in the clubhouse. On the cover, Conewango Valley Country Club pro John Kleimer shows how to play out of a sand trap.

Well-Stocked Pro Shop

John Kleimer, pro at Conewango Valley Country Club, assists customer Rip Burgett in the former's newly-remodeled pro shop. Everything from soups to nuts, Conewango's first-year pro has stocked, or knows where he can obtain it. Kleimer recently refurbished the shop at a cost of nearly $5000. (Photo by Pirillo)

You've Come A Long Way, JVCC

By DAVID PIRILLO

The Kinzua golf course had closed its doors forever, and Warren County had but one other public course — Blueberry — to accommodate the growing number of golf participants.

That was the situation back in 1960 when the Ristau brothers — Ray and Elwyn — took their plans off the drawing table and began to clear over 100 acres of brush, timber and creeks to make their dream — the Jackson Valley Country Club — a reality.

In July of 1961, a little more than a year later, the nine-hole course (over 3000 yards) was ready to facilitate a membership of less than 100.

In retrospect, that was the beginning of the most successful golf operation in the area which today flourished with 18 holes, a luxurious clubhouse, a golf pro and a membership close to 300.

Probably the best explanation of the Ristau's success in a word would be "organization." Through the years a board of governors, elected by the membership, has planned and perpetrated almost all of the club's activities in relation to tournaments, leagues and so forth.

Through coordination with the owners, the board has arranged that nine holes will be open each league night, giving other members and guests the opportunity to play. The National League (Monday), JVCC League (Tuesday), Brokenstraw League (Wednesday), Ladies League (Thursday) and Betts League (Friday) enjoy full rosters, limiting others to spirited competition only in small groups and tournament weekends.

And tournaments, Jackson Valley has plenty. The first tournament is tomorrow — Old Fashioned Two-Ball — followed on the 28th by a Flag Day event. More serious competition arises on June 11 in the Jackson Valley Open. One week later the Italian-American Open, already filled with entrants, takes place. The Governor's Cup (June 24) and the Senior's Tournament (July 22) precede the club's prestigious attraction — the Member-Guest Tournament on the 11th, 12th and 13th of August.

The club championship will be decided in a two-week run-off starting the weekend of August 26 and 27 and finishing on Labor Day weekend (Sept. 3 and 4.)

In speaking of the club championship, "Boots" Smith, publicity chairman for the course, noted that no individual has ever succeeded himself. In 1966 Bob Yerg won; Walt Thurnau took the crown away in 1967. Bob Gunnell bested all others in 1968, as did Dave Dahler the following year. Two years ago Joe Scalise reigned, and last year Chick Bello honored himself with the distinction, one he'll carry until late summer. The season's tournaments end on Sept. 10 with a Member-Member.

Nancy Hillard, however, set a precedent at the course in 1971 by winning the women's championship in back-to-back years.

Smith and the board of governors note that the club is sanctioned by the Professional Golf Association and follows all United States Golf Association regulations.

Since 1966, Les Rettberg has lent his services to Jackson Valley as its pro, and has offered a wide variety of equipment, wearing apparel and novelties in his pro shop. Rettberg says the club is open from dawn to dusk each day, and is available for instructive purposes.

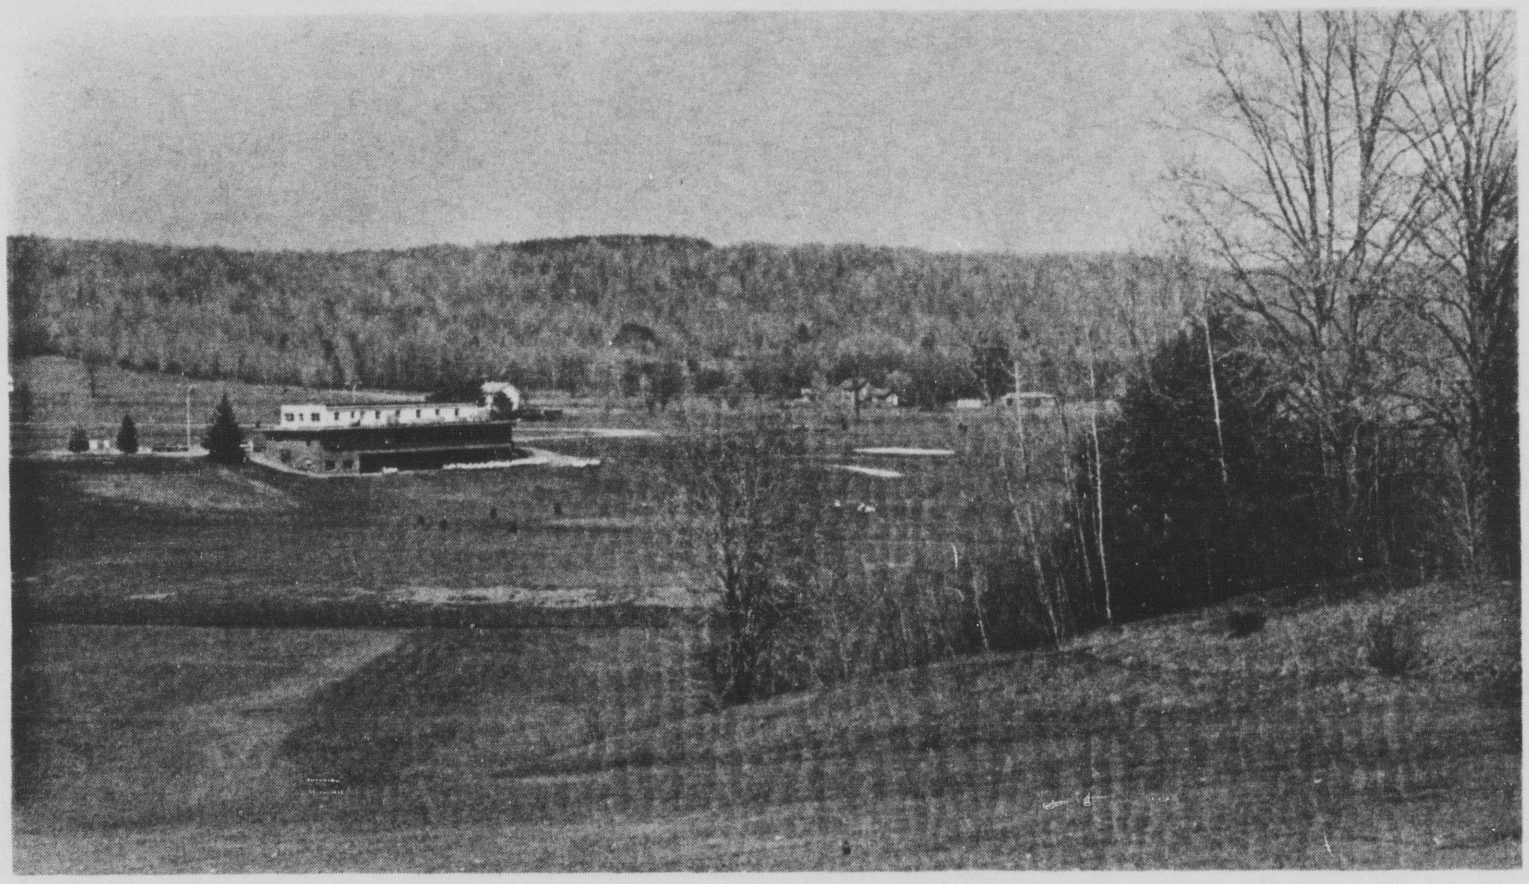

Rettberg also stated that the club has 25 carts available at all times for a fee of $7.00 for 18 holes, $4.00 for nine. As for green fees, the club has set a price of $5.00 for holidays and weekends and $4.00 for weekdays.

The back nine, started in 1966 and completed in '67, lays over 3216 yards, a 36 par. Holes five (a par four over 437 yards) and 16 (par four, 409 yards) are described as the course's hardest holes. The 14th (a par four, 303 yards) is supposedly the easiest.

Rettberg holds the course record with a seven-under-par 71; Bob Gunnell's 65 is the best score on the books for an amateur.

In the clubhouse, showers and lockers have been installed for the golfer's convenience. After a round or two, the 19th hole (the bar) is open seven days a week. A dining area overlooks the picturesque hill and is capable of accommodating almost any party, banquet, or individual's need.

Membership for a season is comparable to others in the area — $140 for a single and $195 for a family. If the fee is paid in September, reductions of 10 percent and better are given.

The Wide Open Spaces

Looking down fairway one at Jackson Valley from the apron of that hole's green, one can appreciate the time, money and effort that the Ristau brothers — Ray and Elwyn — spent in developing their 18-hole spread. Well over 500 yards away and slightly to the left of this picture is the modern, completely facilitated clubhouse. (Photo by Pirillo).

Nestled By Trees

Natural hazards — trees and creeks — set Jackson Valley aside from the run-of-the-mill golf course. Looking down from the tee on the sixth hole, one can see the creek awaiting a golfer's dub and the isolated trees in the middle of the fairway that insure a golf ball of being ensnared on a longer-than-expected shot. Number six hole is 223 yards straight away from tee to green. (Photo by Pirillo)

Cable Hollow Getting New Touch

By TOM SCHULTZ

The Cable Hollow golf course has opened for its fifth season, under new management. Formerly owned by Mrs. Lucille Leathers, a trio of Erie businessmen— Doug Wilson, a Warren native; John Bortz and Ed Stebell - purchased the club two months ago.

The new owners ran three service stations in Erie before entering the golf business, but as Wilson pointed out, "I guess the idea of owning a golf course has always been in the back of my mind. In fact, I looked for a course to buy when I graduated from college (Penn State)."

Wilson and his partners had been looking for quite awhile, according to Wilson, when his mother, Mrs. William Wilson, told them Cable Hollow might be for sale. That was in August, and from that point on, trips from Erie became part of the weekly schedule. Negotiations began during the ensuing months with the transferral completed in March.

Wilson took a break during his clean-up work last month to make an appraisal of the 18-hole course on Cable Hollow rd., just outside Akeley. "It will never be a championship course," he said, "but it is a real good public course. We expect the majority of the play to come from the ladies, senior citizens, beginners and the average golfers."

Preparing the course for play, Wilson added, has been an immense undertaking. The greens have received a great deal of attention, particularly manicuring and aerating.

Wilson pointed out that the putting surfaces were not cut during the late stages of the season a year ago, and the grass was three to four inches long, plus the cup placements were never changed, making for a very ragged appearance caused by spike and ball marks.

Work is also underway to beautify a pond which intersects the number one fairway and also comes into play on the second and tenth holes.

Wilson mentioned plans for a proposed new clubhouse on Norberg rd., which judging by the layout of the course, is the site originally designed for the structure. At the new site, four tees and four greens fan out across the front of the building.

Re-numbering of the holes will then be necessary, with number eight becoming number one and number seven switched to nine and becoming the finishing hole on the front side.

The second nine will start with what is now number 15, a 277-yard par four, and conclude with number 14, a 411-yard par four.

Cable Hollow plays over a fairly short 5700 yards - 2844 on the front nine and 2856 on the back side. Par is 36 - 36 —72 for men and 76 (39-37) for women.

Each nine holes offers the standard five par fours and two par threes and fives apiece. The longest par five reaches 490 yards (number 11), although the next hole, also a par five, is only 452 yards.

Weekday rates are $3.00 with a nine-hole $2.00 price. Weekend and holidays are $3.75. Senior citizens can play for $2.00.

Several leagues have already been scheduled and Wilson has extended an invitation to others.

New Owners

Blueberry Rated Golfer's Course

By TOM SCHULTZ

Club pro Ed Bello described Blueberry Hill as, "A tough course. If you can't play in the fairways, you're going to be in trouble."

Therein lies the challenge of the Blueberry Hill Golf Course. A golfer who sprays his shots out of the fairway will either find his ball embedded in a thick, scraggly rough, or be faced with negotiating his next shot through, or over, trees.

Placement of shots, then, is the key to scoring well on the 6571-yard par 72 tree-lined course. The front nine stretches 3317 yards and plays to par 36 while the back nine is slightly shorter - 3254 yards - and is also par 36.

From the ladies tees, the course measures 5802 yards; retaining its par 72. The front side is marked at 2904 yards and the second nine six yards shorter.

Number one, for example, is a 357-yard, par four. Ideal placement is on the right side of the fairway off the tee, or the golfer will have to play his second shot over water. But straying too far right will put the golfer in the trees and a relatively easy approach shot becomes much more difficult.

Water comes into play on five holes. The large pond at the left of the number one green also juts out into the 17th fairway, on the golfer's right. A pond is also situated in the third fairway, a 536-yard par five with two right hand twists in it. However, it will take a hefty drive to reach the water in one. Most golfers come up short and then play over, or around, the water on their second shot with relative ease.

Water guards the front of the fourth green, forcing either an exacting approach shot on the par four dogleg or playing up the right side of the fairway and around the pond. But again, pushing the shot too far right results in playing out of the rough, which runs into a hillside.

Number eight — a 402-yard par four, dogleg left, - presents an intriguing problem with water. The golfer can choose to either hit a safe drive; then decide whether to hit up short of the water, which stretches across the fairway, or try to fly over it in two. Or, he may attempt to clear the trees which run out into the fairway on the left, making for an easy second shot over the water and enhancing the birdie possibilities.

If a golfer is able to stay out of the trees and water, he must then contend with the sand traps, as no less than two sourround each green. Several have as many as four guarding the green.

The combination of the three - trees, water and sand - makes Blueberry hardly suited for a beginning golfer's game. A beginner is more concerned with having a good lie at all times - whether he sticks to the fairways or not - and that is not a very likely proposition at all times at Blueberry.

The only major change made this year on the course layout is the switching of the number nine and 18 holes.

Each nine offers the golfer two par threes and fives and five par fours. The fives run from 494 yards (number five) to a top of 549 yards (number 14).

Club tournaments run throughout the season, which is tentatively scheduled to close the end of September. The Genesee Open Amateur, slated for Saturday, July 15, attracted 185 area golfers last year.

Blueberry also runs six leagues. Monday morning is for senior citizens with a membership league starting in the late afternoon. Tuesday is Ladies Day with the men having the course the following day. Thursday morning is for juniors and the Industrial League tees off at approximately 4 p.m.

Course rates are as follows— weekdays, $4; and weekends and holidays, $5.

Picturesque Setting

DEAR GALS:

For those of you who wear false eyelashes and have a hard time putting them on because you can't see without your glasses, here's a tip:

You buy a big magnifying mirror and lay it down on the dressing table. Then put your glasses over the mirror (laying them down flat, naturally!). Gee whiz, does it ever magnify. Great for plucking the strays, too.

Now, that little tube of glue that comes with your box of lashes, just pull the little plug out and throw it away. You'll find that a straight pin exactly fits down inside that little ol' hole!

When you get ready to glue the edge of your lashes, just squeeze out the glue along the edge of the straight pin and use this to apply to the lash rim. It's the greatest yet.

When you are through with the glue, just replace the straight pin back in the tube so it's always there when you need it.

Yes, I finally bought some false lashes on sale for 88 cents yesterday. I have never worn them before and perhaps never will again when my husband sees me in them! They are the tiniest and shortest they make . . . so I think I will try to get by with telling him I had my lashes dyed. Reckon he'll fall for that one?

Why are husbands so darn old-fashioned?

Love, Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

This is something that I learned while I was in the hospital.

The doctor had prescribed certain amounts of liquid medicines to be given to me at specified intervals. Sometimes it would be a teaspoon of this, and the next time it would be a tablespoon of something else. The nurse always gave me each dose in a small glass.

When I asked why she used a glass instead of a spoon, she said that any liquid is much easier to take if first put into a glass. It sure saved on spills and wasted medicine.

Since I would have to continue taking the different medicines at home, she advised me to take a small 2-oz. glass and mark one teaspoon on it with dark fingernail polish. Do the same thing a little higher for one tablespoon.

The glass can be washed and sterilized and used over many times. Works just great.

Try it, Heloise!

DEAR HELOISE:

After putting my home movies on large reels, I hated to throw away the small 50-foot reels they came on. But I couldn't think of a use for them!

Suddenly the penny dropped!

I could wind my knitting yarn on them.

First wind the yarn around the reel until full, then put on the case with the open side out. This way, if the amount of yarn is small enough to only fill the reel, you can see what it contains without removing the case. Wind the rest of the yarn around the outside.

They make neat yarn holders and it is much easier than winding the yarn into balls.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:

One day I grabbed what I thought was a can of cleaner to spray on a ceramic Buddha. (It was dirty from the grandchildren's sticky little fingers.)

A friend was sitting by me as I sprayed and wiped . . . the Buddha was shining!

She said that she had never seen that before. I told her I always cleaned my ceramics with a spray cleaner. Then she told me I had the starch can.

Sure 'nuff! But you know, that Buddha is so pretty and shiny I intend to use spray starch on all my ceramics!

Beaty By-Lines

Judy Gorfida
and Sandy Bengston

Hi!

The end of our school year is quickly drawing to a close. We will be writing only one more issue of Beaty By-Lines for this school term.

Congratulations to Tom Spear and John Martin on being elected president and vice-president respectively of the Citizenship League for next year. Elections for next year's representatives will soon be held in seventh and eighth grade classes.

Members of the Citizenship League and their advisors will have a dinner at Pace's Restaurant tomorrow night.

The annual eighth grade geography field trips to Pittsburgh are taking place on Fridays during this month. One group went last week, another has gone there today, and the third group will see the city next Friday.

School banking has ended for another year. Certificates for perfect banking will soon be given out.

On Tuesday and Wednesday of this week sixth graders from the area schools visited Beaty. They looked so small. It's hard to believe that we looked like that only a few short years ago! Before taking a tour of the school, the students were guests at an assembly. Dan Weidert and Leonard Segel welcomed them to Beaty on behalf of the Citizenship League. Tim Huber and Willie Clinger, representatives from the Honor Society, also gave short speeches. Mr. Powell made a few remarks, and then the stage band and the seventh grade chorus entertained.

The girls' track team was defeated by Southwestern by a close score, 44½ to 32½. First place winners for Beaty were Michele Mayes, Bev Clements, and Linda Dahl.

The National Junior Honor Society will have its annual ice cream social on Tuesday, May 16. The cost is 25 cents. With the cooperation of the weather it will be held outside on the front lawn from 6 to 8 p.m. The eighth grade chorus and the stage band will provide music. Tickets may be purchased from any Honor Society member or at the door. Proceeds from this affair will be used to help pay the expenses of the trip to Boston.

Summer band school will be held at Beaty from Monday, June 5, to Friday, June 30. Registration will be on June 5, at 9 a.m. in the band room.

Regular summer school sessions will be held at Beaty this year. The first session will be June 12-30. The second session will be July 10-28. Classes will meet in the morning, and the times will be announced later.

Tom Hyatt and John Zavinski represented the Beaty History Club at the annual state convention in Harrisburg.

On May 17 the History Club will travel to Smethport to visit the McKean County Historical Society. On the way home the members will stop at Kinzua Beach for a picnic. Mr. Curtin will accompany the group.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Scarcella on the birth of their son. Mr. Scarcella is a geography teacher and also one of Beaty's football coaches.

Next Friday is very special to the freshmen as it is Freshman Day. To start the day, all ninth graders will attend an assembly which will consist of skits, musical numbers, freshmen cheerleaders, the reading of the will and testament, and the reading of the class prophecy. All participants will be members of the class. During the day students elected by their classmates will teach in the ninth grade classes. Boys are encouraged to wear shirt and ties, and girls should wear dresses rather than slacks.

Also, next Friday all the ninth grade students are invited to attend the Freshman Dance in the cafeteria from 8 to 11 p.m. Students do not need a date for this dance. The theme this year is "Freshman Fiesta", and the cost is $1 per person. Boys should wear a sports jacket and a tie, and girls should wear a good dress. All the freshmen should plan to attend this memorable event.

The school yearbook, "The Torch", should arrive this next week. Plans have been made to distribute it on Freshman Day. Everybody is eager to see it.

BALTIMORE (AP) — After a broken parking meter swallowed his two dimes, Francis J. Colletta sued the city.

"The parking meter is a symbol of this machine age and I'm going to fight it," Colletta, a university student, said in People's court.

Judge Vern J. Munger Jr., awarded the youth a 20-cent settlement.

But Colletta could not collect it until he paid the court 50 cents for a machine-made copy of the judgment.

Glee Club Concert Saturday

The University of Pennsylvania Glee Club brings its 1972 show "Paint The Red Town" to the stage of Warren Area High School Saturday evening at 8:15. The program is open to members of the Warren Concert Association who joined next year's series, to choral students of the high school, and to Conewango Club members who have signed up for the buffet supper to follow the concert. Dr. William Boger and Murray McComas, Penn alumni, have made the arrangements for the Glee Club's appearance in cooperation with the concert association. Now approaching its 110th birthday, the Penn Glee Club remains the most active performing activity on campus and throughout the United States and abroad.

How To Keep Well

The Glaucomas

By Dr. T.R. Van Dellen

Glaucoma is the result of increased pressure within the eyes. All forms of the disease end in blindness if treatment is neglected. Most glaucomas progress slowly and painlessly with vague and minor symptoms that come and go. Other types develop quickly and are easily recognized because they produce excruciating pain in and about the eye.

Fluid inside the hollow of the eye prevents the orbit from collapsing. Normal pressure is maintained by the proper inflow and outflow of the fluid. In glaucoma, drainage of the fluid is impaired and pressure builds up. The reasons vary depending upon the type of glaucoma involved. A sudden rise in pressure is followed by pain and is easily recognized.

The painless forms are more common and treacherous. For example, the victim may have headaches only after watching television or movies. The eyes may be watery or he may have trouble focusing in a darkened room. Or perhaps, minor visual disturbances do not improve on changing glasses. These complaints are not unusual and may recur at various time, but follow no definite pattern.

Glaucoma is definitely suspected when loss of peripheral vision ensues. If the victim looks down the street or in the distance, the objects in view narrow down, and he seems to be looking through a telescope (tunnel vision). This explains why the sufferer may have 20-20 central vision, but is blind all around the edges. Blurring of vision and halos or rainbow-colored rings may appear around lights at night.

The eyeball is hard to the touch, but measuring the inner pressure with a tonometer is more accurate and reliable. Once the diagnosis is established, the ophthalmologist may suggest eyedrops. However, if these fail to lower the tension, surgery is necessary.

FRACTURED JAW

Mrs. W. writes: About a year ago I suffered multiple fractures of the lower jaw. Since then my chin and lower lip have been numb, but recently a pins-and-needles sensation is occurring. Is there any chance that I will recover completely?

REPLY

There is a slim chance that sensation may return, even tho a year has passed since the accident. The numbness comes from nerve injury. Why not bring this to the attention of your physician?

SPINAL CYST

R. T. writes: If a pilonidal cyst is not giving trouble, should it be removed?

REPLY

There is no need to have the cyst removed unless it was troublesome in the past and is now quiescent. At this stage, the operation is safer and easier because the area is not infected. These lesions, located at the base of the spine, can hardly escape irritation whenever the individual sits down.

This Week's Best Bets On TV

SATURDAY

Paramedic cases on "Emergency!" include a boy on drugs, a woman about to give birth, whose husband does not want the paramedics to deliver it, a suicide attempt and a man suffering from electric shock. Randolph Mantooth and Kevin Tighe star in this series, seen at 8:00 p.m. on WGR and WICU.

Archie jumps at a $35,000 offer to sell the house to a black buyer, but a large family argument ensues over Archie's hasty decision to sell it and move to California on "All In the Family" at 8:00 p.m. on KDKA, WBEN, WFBG and WSEE.

"The ABC Movie of the Weekend" on WKBW at 8:30 p.m. will present "A Taste of Evil," starring Barbara Stanwyck, Barbara Parkins and Arthur O'Connell. This 1971 TV-movie is about a young rape victim, who's just been released from a mental institution, and is being terrorized by mysterious events recalling the attack.

Leslie Caron, Maurice Chevalier and Louis Jourdan star in "Gigi," the 1958 MGM musical which won nine Academy Awards, to be presented on "NBC Saturday Night at the Movies" at 9:00 p.m. on WICU. Gigi, a bright tomboyish teenager living in Paris at the turn of the century, resists all attempts by her grandmother and great-aunt to groom her as the mistress of Gaston Lachaille. When he realizes that Gigi won't fall under his spell, he soons finds himself madly in love.

Barney assumes the identity of a powerful psychic from a Caribbean island kingdom in order to hypnotize a defecting crime syndicate leader on "Mission Impossible" at 10:00 p.m. on KDKA, WBEN, and WFBG. Peter Graves and Greg Morris star.

SUNDAY

A Seeing Eye dog's life will be traced in "Atta Girl, Kelly," a three-part drama to be featured on "The Wonderful World of Disney" at 7:30 p.m. on WGR, WJAC and WICU. The story begins with a German shepherd's first 12 weeks at a breeding farm and a year with her first master, a New Jersey farm boy.

"The Firechasers" is a dramatic story of a fire-insurance investigator as he tracks down a series of mysterious blazes in London. Chad Everett and Anjanette Comer star in this movie to be presented on the "CBS Sunday Night Movie" at 8:00 p.m. on WBEN, WFBG and WSEE.

Earl Holliman plays the heavy in "Dynasty of Hate," to be seen on "The F.B.I." at 8:00 p.m. on WKBW. The story is about a man who paid to have his brother murdered, and what happens when the crime is badly bungled.

Concerned over the safety and comfort of visiting celebrity Lola Fairmont (Mariette Hartley), Hoss Cartwright (Dan Blocker) volunteers his services and becomes implicated in a murder on "Bonanza" at 9:00 p.m. on WGR, WJAC and WICU. When Lola kills a man during an argument, Hoss confesses to the crime.

Johnny Carson is the host for television's 24th annual Emmy Awards, telecast from the Hollywood Palladium at 10:00 p.m. At press time, presenters included Joey Bishop, Robert Cummings, Joe DiMaggio, Mike Douglas, Redd Fox, Susan Hayward, Jack Lord and Paul Lynde. NBC received 98 nominations; CBS 84; and ABC 52.

MONDAY

Debbie Reynolds, a former "Miss Burbank," returns to the city with the "beautiful downtown" to guest star along with cameo guests Charlie Callas, Jack Carter, Johnny Cash, Dick Cavett, Queenie Smith and Burt Mustin on "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In" at 8:00 p.m. on WGR, WJAC and WICU. Debbie turns up as a gum-chewing waitress and a punch-throwing housewife who flattens a telegram messenger.

Tony Randall stars in "7 Faces of Dr. Lao," a comedy-fantasy in which he portrays seven different characters, to be colorcast on "NBC Monday Night at the Movies" at 9:00 p.m. on WGR, WJAC and WICU. Set in the early West, the film opens as Dr. Lao, an elderly Chinese, rides into the town of Abalone to announce the opening of a circus. The show proves to be a one-ring affair with a one-man cast, but it soon becomes evident he brought more to town than entertainment.

TUESDAY

"Where We Stand," a report on America's international affairs, will be featured on "CBS Reports" at 7:30 p.m. on WBEN-TV. The hour offers long-range views on the Vietnamization program, the impact of U.S. troop withdrawals and the current enemy offensive. Also discussed will be the balance of nuclear power and World trade.

Can nightmares become reality? This is the premise of "The Deadly Dream," to be featured on the "ABC Movie of the Week" on WKBW at 8:30 p.m. The man involved is a scientist whose living nightmare centers on a mysterious tribunal out to execute him for an unexplained crime.

WEDNESDAY

Officer Malloy (Martin Milner) mysteriously disappears in Griffith Park while pursuing a robbery suspect in "The Search" on "Adam-12" at 8:00 p.m. on WGR, WJAC and WICU. While Reed holds one suspect at a market, Malloy takes after the second; and then all contact with Malloy is lost and a giant search is organized.

Art Carney and Jo Ann Pflug guest-star this week on "The Marty Feldman Comedy Machine" at 8:30 p.m. on WKBW. They satirize the invention of men's suspenders; toy-airplane pilots Art and

In the second of two programs from Edinboro State College, the girls' finals competitions in the 1972 National YMCA Swimming and Diving Championships will be seen at 3:30 p.m. Buster Crabbe provides the commentary.

"The French Chef" at 7:30 p.m. will feature the recipe for "Napoleon's Chicken," which is a dish fit for the emperor of your household. Chicken Marengo consists of chicken, shrimp, eggs, croutons, mushrooms, and olives swimming in spicy tomato sauce and blazed with cognac.

In the final episode of "The Last of the Mohicans" on "Masterpiece Theatre" at 9:00 p.m., Magua stops to fight and Cora escapes but is recaptured. Trapped, Magua offers her a choice—marry him or die by his hand. She chooses instead to marry the young Mohican, Uncas. In a final clifftop battle, Magua kills both Uncas and Cora before he is killed by Chingachgook, now the last of the Mohicans.

"Coppelia" at 10:00 p.m. is a ballet featuring Merle Park as Swanilda, Christopher Gable and Franz and Stanley Holden as Dr. Coppelius. The heroine, Swanilda, is jealous of pretty Coppelia who sits in a window overlooking the village square, attracting the attentions of her fiance, Franz. When Swanilda and her friends invade the house of old Dr. Coppelius, they discover that Coppelia is only a lifesize doll. Swanilda then impersonates Coppelia to make the old man believe he has succeeded in bringing the doll to life.

The final program of the series, "New Music in Brass" will present "Concert" at 6:30 p.m. The quintet will perform "From the Steeples and the Mountains" by Charles Ives, "Brass Quintet" by Ralph Shapey, and the revised version of Charles Whittenberg's "Concerto for Brass Quintet."

"Great Decisions '72" will present Part II of "Vietnam: What Lessons Have We Learned?" at 7:30 p.m. Special guests are Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho) and Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird.

"PBS Special of the Week" at 8:00 p.m. will feature "Bernstein in London." From Royal Albert Hall in London, Leonard Bernstein conducts the Vienna Philharmonic in performances of Haydn's "Symphony no. 102," Schumann's "Fourth Symphony," and Ravel's "Piano Concerto." Bernstein is also featured in a rare piano solo.

Dr. Gordon Godbey, two woman faculty members from Penn State, and a first grade teacher discuss whether teachers, guidance counselors, and children's literature are reinforcing the stereotypes of male leadership and female emotionalism in children on "Rogandus" at 10:30 p.m.

MOTHERS ARE PEOPLE, TOO

Mothers are so nice to us, we sometimes forget they're just people, too—they need to be told that they're wanted and loved. That's why there's a Mother's Day, Sunday, May 14. And that's why we feature Hallmark Mother's Day cards—the kind that say just what you want said, perfectly.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY, MAY 13, 1972

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)— Avoid tendencies toward restlessness and unruliness. Note warning signals. Many errors and misguided moves can be prevented. Shun extremes.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21)— Stellar influences stimulate your ingenuity, adaptability and capacity for extra work and production on short notice. All will be rewarded.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)— Mixed planetary influences. You may be faced with unevenness in some areas, unexpected setbacks, but keep on doing your best, and DO avoid anxiety.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)— Unusual opportunities may be discovered by those who are imaginative and enterprising enough to go to the lengths necessary to find them. Be alert.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23)— Teamwork will be important now, so make it a point to associate and work with those whose interests and aims are similar to your own.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)— Artistic pursuits and personal relationships need extra care now. You may have to reckon with some unforeseen happenings, may have to take a longer range view in planning.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)— Planetary influences only mildly auspicious. Pursue a cautious but flexible course. View things in their true perspective—not unrealistically.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)— Your natural dependability and willingness to work unstintingly for a cause can put you far ahead in the race for future gains now. But visualize all possibilities before acting.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)— Borrow a page from another's successful manual. But don't underestimate your own valuable know-how. Find that "just-right" medium for steady attainment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)— You can brighten your life considerably if you are ambitious enough to capitalize on your latent skills and talents. Extend your sphere of action, broaden your mental horizons.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)— Influences, somewhat adverse now, suggest that you avoid antagonizing others. If necessary to assert your viewpoint in discussion, do so dispassionately. Don't fly off the handle.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)— Mixed influences. In some areas you will have to be extremely conservative; in others, you can act with gusto. It will be up to YOU to judge.

At 6:30 p.m., "Making Things Grow" will present a discussion on "Bromeliads." This is a lesson in growing one of the most unusual house plants in horticulture. Bromeliads are not difficult to grow and produce exotic, long-lasting blossoms.

A discussion relating to last week's address by Dr. William J. McGill will be seen on "Educating a Nation: The Changing American Commitment" at 7:30 p.m.

A special program entitled "The Future: T Minus 100" will be featured at 10:30 p.m. Isaac Asimov, professor of biochemistry at the Boston University School of Medicine and noted science fiction writer, explains his solution for the future of the human race—lower the birth rate and somehow persuade people to treat each other with respect.

Variations On Desserts

By NATALIE WILLIAMS

Whether the weather is going to behave or not we might as well think in terms of desserts that would be good at this season and throughout summer. You can always have lots of candlelight and bright colors and forget about what it's doing outdoors.

Try a creme de menthe ice cream ring. Serve the frosty ring to the bridge club, at a shower or an anniversary celebration or just to make a beautiful evening out of a miserable night when father comes home from work and fit to be tied because It's Raining Again.

Drain 8-½ oz. can crushed pineapple, reserving syrup. Add water to make 1-½ cups; heat to boiling. In bowl, pour liquid over 3 oz. pkgs.each lime and lemon flavor gelatin; stir until dissolved. Add 1 pt. vanilla ice cream; stir until melted. Add 7 oz. bottle ginger ale, ¼ cup green creme de menthe. Chill until partially set. Add pineapple, 1 cup halved seeded red grapes, ¼ cup chopped pecans. Pour into 6-cup mold; chill until firm. Invert onto serving platter. Garnish with fresh fruits.

You can vary this recipe to suit your fancy. Substitute pineapple sherbet for the vanilla ice cream or, for a flavor change that also changes the pretty pastel color, let orange flavored gelatin take the place of lime gelatin and orange juice substitute for the other liquids. As a third variation, substitute melon balls for the crushed pineapple.

Fruit is a natural at any time of year. If it isn't in season, you can buy it frozen or canned. If you don't grow your own, you can always pick your own at area orchards or buy from roadside stands and freeze. If you're depending on the freezer section of your refrigerator, forget it. These are handy but for the long haul you need a big freezer. In the long run, you'll save money and eat better.

A continental touch for a special dinner dessert can be achieved by simply serving a sauce of sliced bananas and blueberries flavored with orange liqueur over a custard cheese mold. Or you can use any other seasonal fruits you desire — strawberries, raspberries, peaches, grapes.

You can make your own egg custard or take the easy way out and use an egg custard mix, which is so good you might as well. Blend 2 oz. pkg. egg custard mix, 1½ cups milk, 2 tbsp. sugar in saucepan. Add 8 oz. cream cheese, cut in cubes, and 1 tbsp. grated orange rind. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and blend with rotary beater until smooth. Pour into 3-cup mold or 6 individual molds. Chill until set. Combine 1 cup sliced bananas and blueberries (or 1 cup sliced fruits, any combination), 1 cup orange juice, 2 tsp. orange liqueru. Unmold custard into shallow serving bowl or dessert dishes. Spoon fruits in sauce over custard.

Can a dessert-loving family find happiness when one or more is on a diet? Even a sodium or salt restricted diet? You bet they can. Lemon Snow, seasoned with fresh lemon juice, garnished with strawberries, made with low calorie gelatin dessert, tastes light and refreshing. It can be molded into a loaf or ring and served with fresh berries at any meal where guests are waistline watchers. Or it can be made in individual cups and kept in the refrigerator as a sinless snack for the dieter to enjoy during the day or at bedtime. There's only about nine calories per serving.

Dissolve 1 envelope (4 serving size) low calorie lemon flavor gelatin in 1 cup boiling water in bowl. Add 1 cup cold water, 2 tsp. lemon juice, ¼ tsp grated lemon rind, dash of salt (omit for low sodium diets). Chill until slightly thickened. Pace bowl in larger bowl of ice and water. Beat with electric mixer or rotary beater until fluffy and thickened—about double in volume. Beat 2 egg whites until they form soft rounded peaks; fold into whipped gelatin. Pour into 9 x 5 loaf pan or 1-½ or 2-qt. mold. Chill until firm, about 4 hours. Unmold. Serve with sliced strawberries, with fresh fruit, or a custard sauce if desired.

If you haven't any weight or health problems, make an elegant dessert souffle. These unbaked varieties don't require whisking to the table the moment they're ready; they're made early in the morning and left in the refrigerator to set. The high crown is easily made by securing a rim of foil around the souffle dish—and do use a souffle dish—before filling.

Try a Raspberry Cloud Souffle. Thaw two 10 oz. pkgs. frozen raspberries, reserving 3 berries for garnish. Wrap berries for garnish in foil and return to freezer. Soften 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin in in ¾ cup cold water. Combine raspberries, softened gelatin, 2 tbsp. sugar, 1 tbsp. lemon juice. Heat to dissolve gelatin. Add ¼ tsp. almond extract. Cool until mixture is of egg white consistency. Beat 4 egg whites and dash salt until soft peaks form. Gradually add ¼ cup sugar, beating until egg whites stand in stiff peaks. Whip 1 cup heavy cream; reserve ¼ cup for garnish. Gently fold egg whites and whipped cream into raspberry mixture. Pour into prepared souffle dish. Chill several hours. Remove foil collar and garnish with reserved whipped cream and raspberries.

Or for something unusual, how about banana souffle with a warm buttered rum sauce. Mix 2 enveloped unflavored gelatin, ½ cup sugar, ⅛ tsp. salt in saucepan; stir in 1-½ cups orange juice, 1 tsp. grated orange peel. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Beat 6 egg yolks slightly. Gradually stir part of hot orange juice into egg yolks; then return mixture to pan. Over low heat, bring to boil and simmer several minutes. Cool to lukewarm. Add 4 bananas, mashed (about 2 cups). Beat 6 egg whites, then 1 cup heavy cream, whipped, into banana mixture. Spoon into 1-½ qt. souffle dish. Chill several hours or overnight.

To make buttered rum sauce, combine in saucepan 1/3 cup butter, 1-½ cups brown sugar, 3 tbsp. light corn syrup, 1/3 cup milk or light cream. Heat until sugar dissolves. Remove from heat. Stir in ¼ cup dark rum. Cool to likewarm. Spoon over banana souffle.

To make a collar for 1-½ qt. souffle dish, place triple-fold strip of aluminum foil, 3 inches wide, around top of dish. Secure with tape or elastic band.

At Trinity Memorial Church

Rev. Suzanne Hiatt Featured Speaker

The Rev. Suzanne Hiatt, one of the few women deacons in the Episcopal Church, is to be main speaker at the meeting of the Episcopal Churchwomen of the Diocese of Erie when they meet at Trinity Memorial Church next Saturday.

Registration begins at 9:30 a.m. May 20, with the day to end with Holy Communion at 4:30 p.m.

The Rev. Ms. Hiatt completed her theological education in 1964 at the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass., one of two to graduate cum laude, and one of three women in that class. She did her undergraduate work at Radcliffe, and has her Masters in social work from Boston University.

The 35-year-old native of Hartford, Conn. was ordained a Deacon by Bishop Robert L. DeWitt in June, 1971. She serves as suburban missioner for the Diocese of Pennsylvania.

In this capacity she works out of a Philadelphia based office. She works "to help women exercise their citizen power."

She says she works with women "because they're the ones who live in suburbia. Men tend to live in town; they just sleep in the suburbs."

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you printed eight suggestions on how to break up the marriage of a son or daughter. I would like to add two more. These are guaranteed to work. I know because they destroyed my marriage. Here they are:

(1) Whenever your married son and daughter visit with their children, make a point of how thin and tired the kids look. Get across the message that you don't have a very high opinion of the way your beloved grandchildren are being cared for. Intimate that the mother's neglect is detrimental to the health of the youngsters. Ask repeatedly what they eat and why it is that they have so many colds. If the kid breaks a tooth or is injured during play, get all the details and place the blame on lack of supervision.

(2) If your son has a button off his shirt or if his shirt isn't ironed as well as you used to do it when he lived at home, say something. Also mention the hole in his sock or the spot on his coat. It will fan the flame of self-pity and it could start the final fight that ends in the divorce court.

I hope you will reprint the original eight rules along with the two additional suggestions as a refresher course for in-laws. The divorce lawyers from coast to coast are sure to profit from a re-run. Thank you.—It Happened In New Mexico

DEAR N.MEX.: Thank you for two splendid additions to the original eight ways to break up a marriage. For those who didn't see the first eight, here they are:

(1) When a son or daughter lets you know they plan to be married, show open hostility to the person of his choice. After all, marriage means less love and attention for parents and they have a right to resent it.

(2) Expect your married children to spend every Sunday and holiday at your home. Act hurt if they have other plans.

(3) If your married children have problems with their mates, encourage them to come home, no matter what. Listen attentively to all complaints and point out additional faults which may have gone unobserved. Remember, a drop of water at a time can wear away a rock—if you keep at it long enough.

(4) If your married children are having financial problems, rush in with the checkbook. If you are having financial problems yourself, borrow, if necessary, but let them know they'll never have to do without anything so long as you are around.

(5) If a married child has a drinking problem, keep telling him his mate drove him to it. It will make him feel better. Everyone needs someone to blame.

(6) If your married child gets an opportunity for advancement which takes him to another city, tell him family is more important than money and if he leaves, God will punish him for not obeying the commandment, "Honor thy father and thy mother."

(7) If there are grandchildren, smother them with gifts. If the parents object, tell them to keep out of it. After all, grandchildren are to spoil. Sneak money to the kids secretly if you have to. They'll love you for it.

(8) If your married child has a difference of opinion with his mate, get into the act and give them both a sample of your wisdom born of years of experience. What do THEY know? You've lived! If you talk loud enough, maybe you can turn a minor argument into a major hassle and break up the marriage.

Young Mothers Study Club Plans Children's, Couple's Picnics

The annual children's picnic of the Young Mothers Study Club is to be held May 24 at Crescent Park, under the supervision of Mrs. John Howell and Mrs. John Karkosky. The rain date is to be May 25.

The announcement was made at the May meeting of the group.

The couple's picnic is to be held in June, with the committee deciding on the time and place.

President Mrs. Robert Follett presented the new slate of officers, including Mrs. Robert Hampson, president; Mrs. John Shea, vice-president; Mrs. John Karkosky, secretary; Mrs. James Hoskinson, treasurer; Mrs. Thomas Fadale, publicity chairman; Mrs. Thomas Starr, scrapbook chairman; Mrs. Charles Mahood, membership and sunshine chairman; Mrs. James Watt and Mrs. Henry Dahl, program and hostess chairmen; Mrs. John Eberly, Mrs. Phillip Mathyer, and Mrs. Dominick Crino, community service chairmen.

The group is to purchase two campers hips for Camp Cornplanter and contribute to the Mitchell Y-Teens and the men at the Erie Cottage Workshop at the Warren State Hospital.

Mrs. Ellen Eberly presented a program on "The Reading World of Children." She said every child should own a certain amount of books. Two ways, Mrs. Eberly explained, that a parent can introduce books into his child's life is by reading aloud to the child and by exposing them to books. She also displayed some of the children's books from the library.

Mrs. Leonard Berenfield and Mrs. Phillip Mathyer served refreshments.

The next regular meeting is to be held in September.

College Women Meet

A select group from the ninth grade chorus from Beaty Junior High School presented five numbers for the program at the May meeting of the Association of College Women.

The selections, entitled, "Welcome Sweet Springtime," were performed under the direction of William Brocklebank.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Robert Polley was elected the new president, and Mrs. Paul Volkman, vice-president. Jean Steele was re-elected treasurer.

The next meeting of the Association is to be held in early September.

Mother-Daughter Banquet At Chandlers Valley Church

The Mother-Daughter banquet of the United Methodist Church in Chandlers Valley was held this week, with about 60 ladies of all ages present.

Coffee, tea, punch and cake were served by the men of the church. The Brokenstraw Singers entertained.

The following awards were given:

—Maybelle Johnson, oldest mother.

—Phyllis Loomis, youngest grandmother.

—Beverly Sliter, youngest daughter.

—Milissa Harde, mother with the most daughters.

—Evelyn Ransom, granddaughter and great-granddaughter present.

Betty Sliter, mother with the most guests.

"Anastasia," Warren Player's 150th production, had its final performance for the public on April 8, but the "show goes on" for the cast and crew. The group met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Wolf, 237 Pleasant dr., Saturday evening, May 6, to view together the television movie version of the production. Players' Anastasia, Kay Gorenflo who is vacationing in Florida, was contacted by phone and so became a part of the reunion.

The first private donation to the Warren Community Theater Building Fund, which is presently underway, was made by the cast and crew of "Anastasia." The crown, jewels, and thrones, "props" from the production, were auctioned at an earlier get-together for this purpose.

We have heard that Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Schmidt, 223 N. Carver, are spending a quiet 60th wedding anniversary at their home today.

District Nurses Association Officers

St. Joseph PTU Ends Year

A tureen dinner highlighted the final meeting of St. Joseph PTU for the present school year.

The tureen was followed by a brief business meeting, in which the president, Mrs. Edward King, gave a summary of the results of the year's work and thanked all the members for their help and support.

Sister Mariella, principal of the school, spoke about some of the events scheduled for the remainder of the month of May, including the Fun Day, held May 11, for all the pupils to help raise funds for the sixth grade school trip.

Coming events include the sixth grade trip to Corning, N.Y., and the Grand Canyon of Pennsylvania to be held May 12, and the operetta, "Selfish Giant," to be held May 18 in the school auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

The new officers for the 1972-73 school year were named, and include Mrs. Edward King, president; Mrs. Ted Kirsch, vice-president; Mrs. Frank McElroy, secretary; and Mrs. Peter Molinaro, treasurer.

Mothers Club Elects Officers

At the May meeting of the Pre-School Child Development Study Group, held at the home of Mrs. Charles Olson, next year's officers were elected.

They include Mrs. Larry Gardner, president; Mrs. Alan Baldensperger, vice-president; Mrs. Jerome Karshna, secretary; and Mrs. Howard Ferguson, treasurer.

Mrs. Louis Rich, presiding, announced that a dinner for all members is to be held June 13 at The Three Flags Inn.

Mrs. Larry Gardner, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Charles Mullen, swimming instructor at the YMCA, who spoke about teaching children from three to five years of age to swim. Mrs. Mullen stressed the importance of fun and presented an explanation of why and how young children learn to swim. She also displayed some of the equipment used in her program.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Jerome Karshna, Mrs. Gary Hannold, Mrs. Paul Walker, and Mrs. Ronald Firestone.

The last meeting for the year is to be held June 13.

Garden Club Plans Annual Patio Luncheon

Mrs. Albert Loranger is to be hostess to the Warren Garden Club's Annual Luncheon Thursday, May 18, at 1 p.m. at her home at 1234 Conewango avenue. She is to be assisted by the May Luncheon Committee, Mrs. John Haggerty, Mrs. Bruce Duell and Mrs. Arnold Bowles.

Activities for the summer both in Warren and at Chautauqua Assembly are to be announced. Officers for the 1972-73 season are to be elected.

If the weather permits, the annual luncheon will be enjoyed by the Garden Club on the Loranger patio. Reservations must be in this weekend. Members who wish to go may call Mrs. Arnold Bowles, 723-6539.

First Church Of God

Honor Thy Mother

By Rev. Harold Powell
Pastor, First Church of God

It is fitting and proper that we set aside a day to pay special honor and tribute to Mother, who outside of Christ is the greatest gift to the world. She stands next in line to Jesus in that she loves and works and sacrifices with no hope or expectation or care for returns.

A school teacher giving a lesson in fractions said - "Johnny, suppose there were seven in your family - five children besides mother and father. And suppose there was one pie for dessert. What fraction of pie would you get?" Johnny answers, "one sixth." "Don't you know your fractions, Johnny," replied the teacher. "I know my fractions and I also know my mom. If there was only one pie for seven of us, she'd say she didn't want any."

Sacrifice is a synonym for mother. She works tirelessly, for her family, cleaning, caring, nursing them through the nights during illness. Raising a child is a 20 year, 24 hour job.

You are the trip I did not take
You are the pearls I can not buy
You are my blue Italian lake
You are my piece of foreign sky.

To be a conscientious, efficient mother requires many skills - she must know something about teaching, interior decorating, cooking and dietetics, psychology, hygiene, social relations, clothing and sewing, household equipment etc.

I feel it rather strange how we elevate careers - and lower home-making to the common place.

Mothers put in long hard hours - try housecleaning, fellows! It would be nice if we as husbands could swap jobs occasionally.

It is wonderful to have the concerned mothers who take good physical and material care of their families - but far more blessed are those mothers who provide the spiritual training so sorely needed. A mother's job is more than providing temporal needs. Our families need moral and spiritual care.

We rear our children as we would rear prize cattle. We see that our children get milk, balanced lunches, vaccinations, teeth care, but we forget they have immortal souls.

In honoring our mothers, let us give her flowers now, instead of later on her grave.

In a public building in Fredericksburg, Virginia there hangs a picture of a mother sitting peacefully in a chair. There is a tribute. "It is a wonderful thing, a mother; other folks can love you, but only your mother understands. She works for you, understands you, and the blessedness of her peaceful presence is never fully realized until she is called away."

The Balance Of Nature

Twentieth century man, in his assault on the world's natural resources, has often been accused of upsetting the "balance of nature." No one can dispute the charge that modern man has become a disrupting force in the world of nature. But then so was mountain building, which drastically changed the face of the land and spelled the end of the Age of Dinosaurs — a dominant form of life on earth for millions of years. And, so was the Ice Age which blanketed half of North America and Europe under thousands of feet of ice. And, so were great forest fires — caused by lightning and aided by high winds — which devastated vast forests long before the first man crossed the land bridge between Asia and America.

Another term — "the web of life" — is often used by environmentalists to point out that all living things are related to each other in some way, no matter how remote. Both terms have one thing in common. They over-emphasize the frailty of the world of nature by comparing it with something as ephemeral as a spider web that can be torn to shreds by a struggling grasshopper; or an egg balanced like Humpty Dumpty on a high wall, and always in danger of toppling to the ground.

We might as well accept the fact that life on this planet is never perfectly adjusted, and never will be. Life forms are constantly changing and adjusting according to the dictates of natural forces. Species incapable of changing, or adjusting, simply perish.

It has been estimated that over 90 per cent of the animal life that once inhabited the world in ages past either disappeared without leaving any descendants or, through evolutionary processes, changed. It was through the capacity to adapt to changing conditions that these latter forms of animal life were able to survive and leave descendants. But these descendants walking the earth today bear little resemblance to their ancestors of 10 million years ago.

The terms "balance of nature" and "web of life" have some value in alerting people to their responsibilities toward other forms of life on this planet. When modern man becomes "too big for his britches" he becomes arrogant and develops a false notion of his true place in nature.

Whether or not man will finally destory the ability of the earth to support meaningful life is open to question. Most life communities of various species of animals and plants have a built-in toughness and resiliency. If they did not have these qualities, they would probably not have survived to exist in their present form. And the principal reason why they do exist today is because of their inherent ability to adapt and "roll with the punch".

Man could have achieved near immortality on this planet had he remained a single-celled organism in the primordial sea. Through cell division — a method of self renewal — he could have lived basically unchanged as long as the great oceans lasted on earth. But he met the challenge of change and adaptation, crawled out of the sea, and millions of years later became mortal man — a two-legged creature both archaic and advanced.

If man can de-fuse the population bomb in time, change his life style, permanently outlaw war, and assume his rightful place among other living creatures, this tough old planet earth will sustain him and his descendants for millenia to come.
